HUNTINGDON PRESBYTERY.

Held Their Annual Fall Meeting Tuesday and Wednesday.

IN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH HERE

There was a Large Attendance and the Sessions Proved Interesting and Helpful.

A NUMBER OF DELEGATES PRESENT

The Presbytery of Huntingdon convened in the Presbyterian church of Bellefonte Monday afternoon. Rev. Mr. Waddell, the retiring Moderator preached the sermon from the words found in Acts.

At the conclusion of this service presbytery was constituted with prayer by the retiring Moderator. Nominations were received for the Moderatorship, for the ensuing six months. The Rev. Edgar F. Johnson, was unanimously chosen moderator. Rev. Mr. Steckell was re-elected reading clerk. The roll was called, showing a fair attendance from the churches of the Presbytery.

The regular proceedings of the Presbytery was then placed in motion. The report of the committee to organize the church at Burnham reported having fulfilled the duty imposed. On the 30th of April the new organization was effected with a membership of 32, self sacrificing and enthusiastic members, The committee expressed itself as abundantly satisfied of the wisdom of propogating and pursuing the new movement in this most promising field.

The newly organized congregation of Burnham then presented a call for one-fourth of Rev. Mr. Steckel's time, to serve them as pastor. The call was accepted by the one called.

The committee of arrangements reported, making suggestions as to time of opening and closing the sessions of Presbytery.

Before adjourning the committee of arrangements announced the appointment of the commissioners to their various temporary abodes while attending the session.

Presbytery took a recess at 5 to meet at 7 for a business session until 7.30.

The moderator announced the 7 p. m. regular committee of Bills and Overtures, Judicial, Minutes of General Assembly, Narrative, Sessional Records, Leaves of Absence and Finance.

Rev. Mr. Mateer submitted the report on Education showing a noted increase of gifts to the Board and cause of Education.

The reports of the Presbytery's candidates were submitted.

The committee to install several pastors over churches which have lately called them, reported the duty done.

The time having arrived for the order of the day, the missionary service, the Presbytery entered upon this service.

The meeting was in charge of Rev. Mr. L. M. Lewis. After singing hymn 384 the Rev. S. T. Lewis read the Lesson, Acts 11 prayer was offered by Rev. Mr. Townsend, Hymn 389.

The clergyman, appointed by Presbytery to preach the missionary sermon, then preached from the 2-3 verses of Acts 11 by the Rev. R. P. Miller of Philipsburg.

Prayer by the same.

Hymn 390.

Rev. Dr. Mathers then presented the cause of Presbyterial Missions.

Offering for the cause of Pres. Missions.

TUESDAY MORNING.

Devotional service from 9 to 9:30 under care of Rev. Mr. Bowman.

The business of the hour was then begun.

Rev. Albert A. Bird was received from Presbytery of Clarion that he may receive call from the Juniate church, the call for his service was presented and placed in his hands and accepted.

This committee was appointed to install Rev. Bird on the 13th of Oct. at 7.45.

Rev. Stiles to preside; Rev. Whallon to preach; Rev. Irvine to charge pastor; Rev. Bain to chargepeople. Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt of the Reformed Church in U. S. was invited to sit as a corresponding member of Presbytery's sessions.

The commissioners to the Gen. Assembly, Rev. W. E. Stewart, E. F. Johnston, and Elders H. T. Reed and W. B. McCarthy submitted their report.

These commissioners to the meeting of Synod at DuBois were elected.

Miner Dug His Way to Wealth.

There is much mystery following the announcement in St. Kisimer's Polish Catholic church regarding the finding of a large sum of money by a member of the congregation in a coal mine.

The finder of the treasure was at work in an abandoned breast and found the money under a boulder. The name of the lucky miner is not made public. It is believed by many that the money was hidden in the mine by Charles Berilla, who was killed 25 years ago by a fall of coal.

Berilla was a miser and was thought to have hoarded $3,000 in the mines, which could not be found after his death.

THE EPWORTH LEAGUE

This Society of Young People Gathers in Convention

IN OUR SISTER TOWN OF HOWARD

A Large Crowd in Attendance—Instructing Addresses Delivered—Church Handsomely Decorated with Potted Plants and Cut Flowers.

EARLY SUNRISE MEETING HELD

"Look Up and Lift Up."

The Seventh Annual Convention of the Fourth Altoona Sub-District Epworth League opened their meetings in the Howard Methodist Episcopal church Thursday afternoon and Friday October 1st and 2nd 1903.

The large and beautiful House of God was handsomely decorated with palms and choice plants and presented a sight long to be remembered.

The convention opened with a glorious song service and from the start was it clearly manifested that the delegates left their homes and came to the convention with hearts going up to their Master in supplication, asking Him to Bless them as they assembled together to do His work and furthering on the coming of His Kingdom. And God was with them, His Holy Spirit could be seen in their actions, in their utterances, and in their lives.

The first hymn sung was "Blessed Assurance Jesus Is Mine," and it seemed as though the Angelic Hosts above were helping to sing this old familiar song. The next hymn sung was another of "Fannie Crosby's" the blind composer, it was entitled "The Story Must Be Told." The song service closed with that old song entitled "On Christ the Solid Rock."

Rev. B. A. Salter pastor of the Pleasant Gap charge made and earnest prayer asking God to richly Bless the Convention, and the work in which these Epworthians are interested.

In behalf of the Howard Chapter of the Epworth League, Mr. C. M. Muffly made the address of Welcome to the delegates and friends gathered, and after these hearty words of welcome, everyone was made to feel themselves at home. Rev. E. L. Eslinger of Stormstown was to have made the response to these greeting, but for some unavoidable reason he could not be present. In his place Rev. E. R. Heckman, of State College, responded.

An address on "Spiritual Work," was ably delivered by Rev. T. S. Faus, of Snow Shoe. Rev. George W. McIlnay of Spring Mills was to have made an address at this period on "The Epworthian in Social Life," but he was unable to get to the convention until Friday morning.

After singing "Keep Step With The Master," a half hour was spent in discussing" Spiritual Work" in the League, and some very admirable suggestions were made by Rev. Salter, Rev. Heckman and Mrs. John A. Wood. Miss Catharine Buck was to have read a paper on "Social Work," but was detained at home.

Rev. G. F. Boggs of Howard, president of the Sub-District then announced his committees as follows: Committee on Resolutions Rev. E. R. Heckman, State College; Mrs. John A. Wood, Bellefonte and Mrs. J. B. Neff, Snow Shoe; Committee on Nominations, Rev. T. S. Faus, Snow Shoe, Rev. B. A. Salter, Pleasant Gap; R. B. Holter, Howard, Miss Dora Gephart, Fillmore and Miss Ollie Steel, Bellefonte. After singing, "Take Time to be Holy". The first session of the convention came to a close.

We failed to mention in the beginning of our story that the citizens of Howard, swung wide open their doors and welcomed the delegates with open arms to their homes.

THURSDAY EVENING.

The evenings service began promptly at 7:00. The large edifice was crowded with delegates and their friends anxious to take some part in the convention. Perhaps one of the most glorious song services ever held in the little city of Howard took place at this time. The large and splendid choir leading the singing, the congregation joining in and swelling the chorus until it seemed as though the walls of the church and the beautiful flowers were assisting in these Holy songs of praise to God, after singing, "Fannie Crosby's" most beautiful hymn "Praise Him, Praise Him", Rev. Faus of Snow Shoe, offered an earnest prayer in behalf of the meeting and the convention.

Mr. Claremont Tipton a member of the Howard charpter sang a beautiful solo entitled "Jerusalem". Mr. Tipton although a young man has a most magnificent baritone voice which he has under the finest control. An address was then delivered by Rev. E. R. Heckman of State College who spoke on "A Mistaken Idea Concerning the League". Rev. Heckman is a fluent speaker and explained his subject in a satisfactorily manner.

Miss Ollie Clark, of the Young People's Society of Beech Creek, recited "A Lost Hero", (by Elizabeth Steward.) Miss Clark is an elocutionist of rare talent and entertained her audience admirably.

A quartette composed of Rev. G. F. Boggs, William Hall, William Pletcher and Z. T. Weirick sang beautifully a song entitled "Go Find the Work Waiting for You.

Rev. Edward J. Gray D. D. of Williamsport; President of Dickinson Seminary was the next speaker who lectured on "A Whole Man." Rev. Gray is well and favorably known throughout Pennsylvania, and his talk on this occasion was none the less interesting than those he has delivered heretofore. The evening services came to a close by the singing of the Doxology nd the benediction by Rev. Dr. Gray.

FRIDAY MORNING

Just as the sun was coming over the brow of the hills, the delegates assembled at the church for their sunrise prayer meeting. The services were in charge of Rev. B A Salter, of Pleasant Gap, who delivered a most stirring talk on "Sacrifice," taking his subject from the 12th chapter of Romans. Rev. Salter is a bright young minister, and was listened to with the greatest of interest by his audience. After his address the services were turned into the old fashioned Methodist Class meeting, many prayers and experiences were offered to God with hearts overflowing with love for Him. The early hour service was brought to a close by the singing of "God be with you till we meet again."

The song service began at 9:30 led by Mr. W. F. Hall who in himself is a whole choir and is a most magnificent singer. All the delegates joined heartily in singing these soul inspiring hymns which prepared them for the days services. Rev. Faus offered an earnest prayer asking the Master to bless the meetings of the day and to come and be very close to all those who had gathered to learn more of Him and to understand more thoroughly how to do His work. Mrs. J. B. Neff read the minutes of the meeting the night before and after singing, reports from different committees were read and adopted.

Rev. Dr. Gray gave a parting message to the convention before leaving for his home. The message he left was to take God with you every where and in what ever you do, and on every occasion have Him first in your thought, keep Him in touch always, and then he said everything will be all right.

The reports of the work and suggestions of the four vice presidents was the next on the programe. R. Bower Holter, first vice Presidents of the spiritual work, gave an interesting account of his department of the work which includes the weekly devotional meetings, spiritual welfare of members, personal evangelism, bible study, the morning watch, Sunday school interest, open air meetings, and the junior league.

Miss Alice Neff, second vice president and head of the department of the World Evangelism, and whose motto is "The World for Christ in this generation," includes the study of our church benevolences, christian stewardship, the missionary committee, the missionary library and literature, mission study classes, missionary meetings, cycle prayer for world evangelism.

Miss Blanche Buddinger, third vice president and head of the mercy and help department includes, systematic visitation, care for the poor and sick, hospitals and other charities, the temperance reform, temperance literature, temperance study classes, social purity and good citizenship.

Miss Catharine Buck, fourth vice president head of the literary and social work which includes general literary culture, lecture courses, committee on the Epworth Herald, reading courses and libraries, promotion of social life in the church seeking new members, music for all meetings, and social entertainments.

The next in order in the convention was the reports from the delegates, and all gave a most gratifying account of the work being done by the different chapters in the District.

After heartily singing "Keeping Step

NEW ORGAN DEDICATED

Special Services at St. John's Reformed Church Sunday.

LARGE AUDIENCE IN ATTENDANCE

Andrew Carnegie Contributed $750 to Beautiful Pipe Organ Which Cost $1800—Inspiring Music and Beautiful Flowers.

A MOST AUSPICIOUS OCCASION

After several weeks spent in the building of an organ annex and making a complete change in the pulpit and chancel settings. St. John's Reformed church was re-opened Sunday and both the morning and evening services were of exceptional interest. An augmented choir of nearly 20 voices under the leadership of Mr. A. Lukenbach furnished the music. Mozarts "Gloria" was rendered as an opening chorus in the morning. A duet entitled "Savior Source of Every Blessing" by Miss Mary Barber, of Mifflinburg and Mrs. Ambrose M. Schmidt. and a solo "Face to Face" by Mr. Blair of Mifflinburg, made up the musical program of the morning. The pastor, Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt, took as his text Psalm 100, 1x2nd vs. and gave a survey of the history of sacred music, its place in christian worship and the consecration of the voice as well as the organ in sounding the praises of Jehovah our God.

After the sermon, the organ was formally dedicated by the pastor, Rev. Schmidt who took occasion to publicly thank Mr. Carnegie, whose gift of $750, made it possible to secure the pipe organ. Also to thank the friends who aided in many ways in making the work a success. The entire cost of the organ and repairs amounting to about $1,800..

Before the hour for the evening service arrived, the church was crowded, chairs filled the aisles and with many standing, crowds were turned away not able to gain entrance, the evening service was a special service of song. The pastor gave a brief sketch of the hymns used in the service and the following musical members were rendered by the excellent choir and its members.

Chorus—'Send out the Light."

Solo by Mr. Blair.

Duet—"Tarry with me Oh my Saviour".—Miss Barber and Mrs. Schmidt.

Solo—"I Heard the Voice of Jesus Say"—Miss Henrietta Butts.

Solo—"Face to Face"—Mr. Blair.

Mrs. R. G. H. Hayes rendered several beautiful selections on the organ in her usual excellent style and for the singing Miss Dora Meyers presided, handling the organ with a skill that did her great credit. She is the daughter of County Commissioner Philip H. Meyer.

The offerings of the day amounted to $58. and practically cancel the indebtedness. The organ is a handsome piece of workmanship, a two manual, with over 700 pipes. It was built by the Baickhoff Organ Co., of Pomeroy, Ohio and in quality of tone and power as well as sweetness has commended it to the musical critics as an instrument of more than ordinary quality.

The interior of the church was beautifully decorated with flowers, and foliage, plants and reflects great credit on the ladies who had charge of the decorations. Throughout, the church never appeared more beautiful and with the new chancel arrangement St. John's Reformed church has reached the completion of a series of improvements, that reflects much credit on those who had the matter in charge.

A Generous Offering.

Mr. John Hoy, of Waddle's Station, was in town on Tuesday and brought with him a donation to the Bellefonte hospital that speaks volumes for the generosity of the people of that vicinity.

Among the articles were 5 bushels of potatoes, a sack of flour, 7 doz. eggs, a lot of jellies and preserves and more than $20 in cash.

The donation was very acceptable indeed; especially as it indicates that the people of Buffalo Run appreciate the hospital.

—In Pittsburg Tuesday a well-dressed woman went into City Hall and gave notice that she had destroyed a marriage license granted the day before for her marriage. She further explained matters by saying that her lover had come to her home drunk the previous day and she destroyed the license, then fired him. That girl is to be commended for her courage and common sense.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

Now in Progress on Fair Grounds—Bright Prospects for Today.

The great Centre County Fair is now in full blast on the fair grounds near town. The event which has been looked forward to with so much interest is here and if the weather permits an immense crowd will be in attendance today.

The fair opened Tuesday but the threatening weather kept the crowd away. The fair this year is larger and better than ever before. The exhibits are more interesting and varied, the track is in excellent shape and the Midway promises some great things in the way of novelties.

A walk through the main exhibition building impresses you with the fact that the ladies of our town have not been idle. Fancy work of all description can be seen there. Then there is a culinary department, Ornamental Needle Work, Textile, Youth's and Aged lady's department. The exhibits are particularly interesting and attractive. Among the exhibitors in the main building are the State College Experiment station, John Olewine hardware, M. C. Gephart musical instrument's, Joseph Brothers carpets, Racket Store, novelties, James Schofield, harness etc., Frank Naginey, furniture etc.

Woolson Spice Company have a tent where you can regale yourself with a delicious cup of Lion Coffee.

The poultry exhibit this year fills two tents and is the finest ever seen on the grounds.

On the midway can be seen the New Jerusalem, the mechanical wonder of the age, the Ferris wheel, merry-go-round and other amusements to numerous to mention.

Before the grand stand each day a free vaudeville show of unusual merit takes place.

Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock before a crowd of admiring people Cyrus A. Schnarr and Miss Mary Jane Martin both of Moshannon were united in marriage. The ceremony was performed by J. S. Smith J. P. of Snow Shoe. The fair management presented the happy couple with a $50 wedding present which was on exhibition in the main building.

To-day Thursday there will be a 2:35 pace for a purse of $200,00 and a 2:24 pace or trot for a purse of $250.

At the lower end of the grounds there is a fine exhibit of horses, cattle, swine, sheep etc.

DEATH OF DR. H. H. ROTHROCK.

After Three Score Years and Ten of Active Life He Succumbs to the Inevitable.

Dr. H. H. Rothrock died at the residence of his son, J. H. Rothrock, on West Bald Eagle street, Lock Haven at 10:50 o'clock Thursday night of paralysis, aged 70 years and 1 month. He is survived by the following named children. Mrs. C. E. Weston and Ernest H., of Tyrone; Mrs. W. W. Reed, of Johnsonburg; J. Herbert, Clifford T., William C. and Harold, of Lock Haven. Dr. Rothrock was born about three miles north west of Bellefonte on the old mountain home and was educated in the common schools and the Bellefonte Academy. In early life he learned the profession of dentistry and for over thirty years he practiced his chosen profession, living in Bellefonte until about eighteen years ago when he moved with his family to a country home near Hecla. His wife died about ten years ago at which time he dropped the practice of his profession entirely and lived a retired life until about five months ago when in failing health he went to Lock Haven and made his home with his son Herbert at which place he died Thursday night. While a resident of Bellefonte and actively engaged in his profession he devoted much of his time to matters of public import, serving for many years as a member of the borough council and the school board of his town. He was also an active member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and at one time a delegate to the grand lodge. In infancy he was baptised in the faith of the Episcopal church and held allegiance to that belief until his death. His funeral occurred from the home of his son J. H. Rothrock on West Bald Eagle street Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Lewis Nichols conducted the services and burial was made in Highland cemetery.

—CLAIRVOYANT—Madame Victor, palmist, life reader, magnetic healer, clairvoyant. Tells all your joys and griefs. Names and dates. Garman House, evenings.

X RAYS FOR EPILEPSY.

How the Treatment Has Benefited a Young Girl.

HER WEIGHT GREATLY INCREASED

Elsie Winkler of New York Recovered Power of Speech, and the Epileptic Attacks Became Less Frequent and Less Severe—What a Physician Thinks of the Case.

Considerable interest has been attracted to the case of Elsie Winkler of New York, the sixteen-year-old girl who has been under X ray treatment for epileptic fits at the Postgraduate hospital in New York for several weeks past. The girl's case is the first in the United States so far as is known in which X rays have been employed in the treatment of epileptic affections, and the improvement of the patient since the experiment has been in progress has been marked, says the New York Times.

The girl's present malady followed an attack of diphtheria when she was ten years old, in which antitoxin was used. The immediate consequence of the diphtheria was the partial paralysis of the right arm, and epileptic fits followed in the course of a few weeks. These increased in severity and frequency as a year passed, until the child's general condition became alarming. Treatment by bromides failed to relieve her, but seemed rather to develop skin eruptions, which aggravated her suffering.

When the girl was taken to the Postgraduate hospital some weeks ago, the paralysis of the arm was such as to render it useless, the fits were of daily and sometimes semidaily occurrence, and the child could not speak with sufficient clearness to give an intelligible account of herself. Her mother, who accompanied her, was obliged to state the history of the illness.

Dr. J. H. Branth of New York suggested treatment by X rays. The mother consented, telling of the previous prescribing of bromides. These were ordered discontinued, and the X ray treatment begun, as it has been carried out during the subsequent weeks. The immediate result was an improvement in the child's general condition and speech and the diminution of the skin eruption. Then the epileptic attacks became less frequent and less severe, until at the present time they occur not oftener than once in two weeks. The child has now so far recovered her voice that she speaks with distinctness, although slowly. Her complexion is nearly clear and her weight considerably increased.

Further than to take cognizance of the results of the X ray treatment in this individual case, physicians familiar with it are disinclined to speak. Dr. Branth said that the use of X rays in cases of epilepsy was a matter that could not be determined by the development of a single case, but he did not hesitate to speak of the success so far attained in the present instance.

"I will say so much," he said, "that whether the X ray treatment is shown to act in epilepsy or not it may be advised in such cases for its beneficial results on the general condition of the patient. This girl in the Postgraduate hospital has shown wonderful improvement in the few weeks in which she has been under treatment."

Dr. Branth was asked to speak of the pathological aspects of the case. He said:

"The conclusion must not be formed, even if we are shown to be successful in cases such as this one, that all cases of epilepsy will yield to X ray treatment. In cases like that of this girl the theory accepted at present for explaining the disease is that its existence depends upon cellular instability. The primary seat of the convulsion is in the cortex of the brain and the secondary seat the medulla oblongata. My belief is that if the X rays have effect it is in whipping together the brain cells into normal action. That, of course, is entirely conjectural, because the theory of epilepsy is conjectural also."

British Scientist Says Great "Fussball" Can Be Eaten With Relish.

Despite the saying about there being nothing new under the sun, Dr. M. C. Cooke of London, who has been lecturing before the Royal Horticultural society, has discovered that "an entirely new sensation can be obtained by eating the great fussball, which is a species of edible fungus quite unlike the mushroom," says the New York Herald.

Dr. Cooke quoted high authority for the statement that it had a delicacy of flavor superior to any omelet. The fussball, however, wasn't to be carelessly tackled, for a clergyman in the audience said that, while being cooked, it gave forth very pronounced fumes, so much so that on one occasion three of his servants were asphyxiated by them.

Teaching Forestry In Indiana.

Arrangements have been completed for the establishment of a department of forestry in Purdue university, says the New York Commercial Advertiser. Experiments and the testing of the different trees and shrubbery in the United States will be the principal work of the new branch of the school, and the government will soon erect a large building and install apparatus needed in the study. An extensive tract of land will of necessity be added to the already large Purdue farm for the raising and cultivation of the trees and shrubs and will greatly broaden the scope of the university.

WARNING FOR EMPLOYEES.

Plan of Chicago Corporations to Stop Betting on Races.

"Young man, be good." This is the ultimatum delivered to some 30,000 young men by their employers in Chicago, says the New York World. Race track gambling, excessive indulgence in liquor, immoral conduct, late hours and excessive cigarette smoking are the vices charged to the young men. Of these the race track mania is the most prevalent. Chicago is honeycombed with handbooks. It is asserted that not less than 100,000 persons play the races every day without going to the tracks.

Playing the races and all other forms of gambling, immoral conduct and excessive use of liquors and cigarettes greatly impair one's usefulness. Notice is hereby given that any employee who thus abuses himself is subject to dismissal.

"We are only following the lead of other business houses," said Superintendent C. E. Mitchell. "We believe in clean living, for only in that way can we get the best results. We believe in it from a moral view. This does not mean that we are Puritanical. There is no objection to moderate cigarette smoking, but we have discovered that when it is carried to excess it clouds the brain and develops a fag that makes a man unfit for certain duties. We discovered that the habit of playing the races demoralized the men. It had grown to alarming proportions through the medium of the handbook. One thing we have discovered is that the college man seems to be of a stronger moral character than the man without college training. We have 300 college men in our employ, and not one of them has given us any trouble. They are a fine lot of fellows, and we are proud of them. Last year we engaged fifty college men, and this year we are repeating the experiment."

The wave of reform has spread to many of the giant business corporations of Chicago. The big wholesale and retail stores of Marshall Field & Co. have the same laws in operation which the electric company is enforcing. Railroads throughout the country are waging war against the use of liquors and tobacco by employees engaged in operating trains.

CHEWING DRILL FOR SCIENCE

Yale Professor's Plan to Make Tests on Twenty Soldiers.

Harvey W. Wiley, the chemist of the agricultural department at Washington, may not be the only scientist who can run a governmental boarding house, says the New York Press. Professor Chittenden of Yale has persuaded Surgeon General O'Reilly of the army that he has original ideas as to nutrition and has got permission to practice his system on a special class of twenty privates of the hospital corps. Professor Chittenden is strong on "digestive proteolysis" and is the lecturer on physiological chemistry in Yale. He is convinced that human kind eat more than is good for them. His process of simplifying life is founded on the idea that men should chew their food slowly and that if his ideas were followed much tissue now taken in to overload stomachs could be refused.

The surgeon general has detailed Lieutenant Dewitt of the medical corps to command this detail of men destined for battle with bacteria and starvation. Dewitt has left Washington for Yale as well as the heroes devoted to science. Accurate data will be preserved as to the present and future condition of these young men, and every ounce of food taken will be recorded, together with its effect on them.

NEW MILEAGE TICKET.

It Is Interchangeable and Replaces Credential System.

Passenger officials of ten of the western railroads have reached an agreement to commence on Nov. 1 the use of interchangeable mileage tickets in place of the present credential system, says a Chicago special to the New York World. The roads which have agreed to use the new tickets are confident that others will do so later.

The new ticket will cover 2,000 miles and will be sold for $60. If the original purchaser uses it exclusively he will be paid a rebate of $19.50, thereby reducing the cost of his transportation to practically 2 cents a mile. Train conductors will honor the ticket regardless of whether or not it is presented by the original purchaser.

Novelty In Lilies.

The "Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt" is the name of a new lily which has been hybridized by Joseph Tailby of Wellesley, Mass., and received a silver medal from the Massachusetts Horticultural society as being the finest novelty in the way of decorative plants ever hybridized in the United States, says the New York Tribune. The new lily is about two feet high and resembles a subtropical plant, having large, dark green, silvery spotted leaves and tall primrose yellow spathes. It is strong and hardy, lives out of doors and is able to reproduce itself from seed.

Yellow Fever Epidemics.

Fears for the future have been allayed. It may safely be predicted that never again in the history of the United States will an epidemic of yellow fever occur, says L. O. Howard in an article on "Yellow Fever and Mosquitoes" in the October Century. And all of this has been brought about by the discovery that once more a mosquito must be blamed for one of the greatest of human ills.

LODGINGS SCARCE.

State College Needs a Hotel to Replace University Inn.

The large increase in the number of students entering State College this fall is taxing the capacity of the town and the College to the utmost to provide rooms for lodgers. The College has only a single dormitory, and every space in it is taken. A dormitory annex will be completed, however, by the end of this week, which will furnish comfortable accommodations, with steam heat and electric light, for forty additional student; and a new track and club house, which was to have been completed at the opening of the session, will now be pushed along with such vigor that it will very soon be ready for occupancy. This will make comfortable provision for all members of the athletic teams, and thus go far as a permanent relief for the main dormitory.

The loss of the University Inn by fire last spring is now felt even more seriously than it was at commencement time, and it is very much to be hoped that some enterprising parties will take early measures for replacing the Inn with a more substantial structure—all the more since the ground cannot be used, as we understand, for any other purpose than a hotel. It is current public opinion that a good hotel, built and managed on modern lines, would receive a large patronage throughout the year and become a favorite summer residence for many people of moderate means. The location is a most favorable one for such a purpose.—State College Times.

Chinatown Must Go.

The powers have spoken. San Francisco's Chinatown must go. With the United States Marine Hospital Corps, flaunting the quarantine flag of the bubonic plague as the pressure, the city is asked to raze the quarter. It is best perhaps, in cold reasonableness that it should go, but it is sad nevertheless. It is the most picturesque section in any city in United States. Our own Chinatown in New York is but a squalid and vicious corner beside it, a slum lining upon the sightseer, one that would dwindle and vanish in a year if the tourist were to lose interest. Chinatown in San Francisco, however, is a community in itself, one that needs not the souvenir hunter in order to live. There are parts of it into which only its familiars ever penetrate, parts into which the guide never takes his party. For color, it cannot be surpassed this side of Canton; in humen interest of deep, Asiatic mystery, it has no counterpart on the continent.

Here among dirty brick walls and decaying hovels, dwell silk-gowned merchants who have learned to bear wealth with no more ostentation than the laundryman next door, men who traffic in human life, members of the most fearful secret society in the world, scholars of metaphysics, who could teach the Scotch politicians, students, musicians, poets, drug fiends and criminals—the good and the bad—all in a half-score of city blocks, perched up against the side of a hill. Bert Harte knew Chinatown in its beginning, Mark Twain, in hard days, slinked through its streets; Jack London gathered of its lore, and Gellet Burgess and Will Irwin spin tales today of its comedy and tragedy.

Chinatown must go. The law of health has decreed. Its sin has been deep. Its good has not been sung, but it has not been small. Philanthropy, with Chinese names, has a queer look, yet San Francisco has been such charity often enough not to be surprised.—New York Commercial.

DANGER IN FALL COLDS.

He Didn't Advertise.

A young man residing in a neighboring town recently bought a shirt which was purchased in the east, Rolled up in the inside of it he found a note from a young lady who had worked on it, in which she said she would be pleased to correspond with the buyer of the shirt, provided he was matrimonially inclined. Of course the nice young man answered it on perfumed paper and used his rosiest language, stating how glad he would be to marry. In a short time he received an answer stating that the young lady had been married three years and had two children. Upon investigation to find out why he was too late it was explained by the fact that the shirt had lain on the shelves of the local dealer for several years. He did not advertise.—Westmoreland Democrat.

A DOZEN TIMES A NIGHT.

Mr. Owen Dunn, of Benton Ferry, W. Va., writes. "I have had kidney and bladder trouble for years, and it became so bad that I was obliged to get up at least a dozen times a night. I never received any permanent benefit from any medicine until I tried Foley's Kidney Cure. After using two bottles, I am cured."

WILL BE A BIG BLAST.

An Explosion Which is to Soon Occur in the Packsaddle.

The Johnstown Tribune says that some time soon, probably one day this week, somebody will press the buttom; the pressure will make a connection that will generate an electric spark, and that spark will set loose one of the largest charges of explosives ever put off at one time, rivaling the famous occasion when Hell's Gate was blown up in New York harbor some twenty years or so ago. This bit of business, for which preparations are now almost complete, will take place in the course of the Pennsylvania railroad improvments in progress for some time between Johnstown and Blairsville Intersection.

Travelers to the westward for months past have noticed large gangs of men at work along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks. The men are in the employ of the firms which have in hand the stupendous task of straightening out the Pennsylvania road. Their shanties are scattered every half mile or so for considerable distance and the results of their work can be seeen in long grades, deep cuts and high fills, with thousands of tons of fresh earth transplanted from one feature to the other and made to play its part in the task which is expected to save a total of a mile or so in distance and cut off a minute or two in time between Philadelphia and Pittsburg on the Pennsylvania railroad's fastest trains

For some time one regiment of this industrial army has been concentrating its efforts at a single point in the famous Packsaddle. In their work of cutting a straight road, or one as nearly straight as possible, they came upon an obstruction, there which nothing less than dynamite or nitroglycerine will serve to remove. They have been swarming like so many bees along this flinty and precipitous cliff, each crew sinking its drill down into the rock. One of these days it will all be done. 200 holes will be drilled and then eminent officials of the Pennsylvania railroad and of the contracting firm which is doing the work will be invited to come on from Philadelphia and New-York and witness one of the greatest explosions in history.

Died of Typhoid Fever.

George Thomas Sigel died at his home, in Tyrone at 8 o'clock Sunday evening Sept. 27 from typhoid fever, from which he had suffered for about three weeks.

The deceased was born in Nittany valley, about three miles from Bellefonte, July 21, 1871, and was therefore aged 32 years, 2 months and 6 days. For the past nine years he had resided at Tyrone, and he was employed as a fireman on the middle division of the Pennsylvania railroad. His wife, whose maiden name was Ada Cronemiller, survives him, with two children, Thomas Roy, aged nine years; and Lewis Budd, aged three years. His father died ten years ago, but his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Sigel, is still living, and two brothers and a sister also survive him, Roy Sigel, of Jersey Shore, and William Sigel, and Mrs. Della Waite, of Half Moon valley.

He was a member of Tyrone lodge No. 152, I. O. O. F.; Tyrone encampment, I. O. O. F., the Brotherhood of Railway Firemen, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Relief department. The remains were taken to Half Moon valley for interment, Wednesday morning the services there being in the Friends' church and the burial in the Friends' graveyard.

For Over Sixty Years.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over sixty years by million of mothers for their children while teething with perfect success. THE PURE FOOD LAW.

Federal Statutes of Wide Scope are Badly Needed.

Most persons who have watched the tendency toward wholesale adulteration of food products by manufacturers and others have no doubt warmly welcomed the pure food laws recently placed upon statute books of various states. This is not so much because the laws are perfect, or claim to be perfect, but because they mark the first attemps to correct an abuse which is fast be coming intolerable. A dozen or more states now have such laws, all containing much of benefit to the people, yet all falling short of the intention of their makers.

They err in various ways, but perhaps the worst is their elasticity. They allow the officials charged with their enforcement no discretion. They define an adulterant as any foreign substance introduced into a food product, whether prepared or otherwise, and they make enforcement compulsory when it is clearly shown that such substances have been introduced. It doesn't matter at all if the adulterants are in themselves wholesome. If they are not included in the formula from which that particular article is made, they are adulterants and all who make, handle or sell them must be prosecuted.

The hope of all workers for pure food legislation is that a national law shall be passed which will do away with the present mixture of standards and place all manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers upon exactly the same basis. The present system is much like the old state money days, as one gentleman pointed out, "What is good in one state is not good in another." One general law, drawn with sufficient care to cover all ordinary violations, and which allows of some discretion on the part of the officers designated to enforre it is badly needed.

The theory of these laws are all right. The law assumes that the retailer will secure his redress from the wholesaler who will, in turn, go higher up. But excepting in rare instances this is not done; and the manufacturer, the only actually guilty one, escapes. If the article is detrimental to health, it should be forced off the market entirely, and reaching the manufacturer is the only possible way to do that. Officers must satisfy the requirements of the law in some way, and retailers are easiest reached. The result is unjust prosecution in some cases. Nothing but a national law will accomplish the full purpose desired.

Hicks' October Forecasts, 1903.

Cloudy and threatening weather will prevail as October comes in, but the barometer will fall, the temperature will rise, and active storms of rain, wind, lightning and thunder will touch many localities about the 2nd and 3rd. A partial cessation of rain and storminess may follow these storms, with a brief and rapid rise of the barometer, but look for speedy return of storm conditions on and touching the 5th. A very low barometer, high temperature and humid atmosphere will most likely result during the first stages of these storms, and these conditions may be regarded as positive forerunners of heavy storms. Storms in a progressive way will last, possibly, through the 7th to the 11th, and northern sides of storm areas will wind up with touches of early winter. Rain will turn to sleet and snow in the extreme north, the barometer will rise fast and high, and "great guns" of northerly gales will rush down over the northwest, especially the lakes, bringing frosts with danger of early freezing

Some very brisk autumnal storms will pass from west to east across the country, on and touching the 14th, 15th and 16. All of these October storms will be more vigorous, and should be watched with more vigilance on and about the great lakes. It is problematical whether this period will subside normally, or be prolonged and merged into the period immediately following.

High temperatures for the season will appear on and touching the 18th, a decided and rapid fall of the barometer will follow the warm wave from western sections, and autumnal thunder storms will visit many parts of the country in their march eastward about Sunday the 18th to Thursday the 22nd. Before the tropical features in these storms have disappeared in the east, sharp boreal conditions will appear in the northwestern and northern sides of the storm areas, bringing October snow and sleet, a high barometer and rushing gales down out of the northwest.

The fifth storm period will centre on the 25th and 26th, about which days the cold, northerly winds will shift to southerly, the barometer will fall, higher temperature will return and more rain, with snow, perhaps, northward, will visit many sections. The regular change to rising barometer, northerly winds and cold, fair weather, will follow this period. The last two days of October constitute the first two days of a regular storm period, the centre and culminating stages of which fall in November.

YES OR NO?

Bellefonte People Are Respectfully Asked to Answer These Questions.

Is there anything in the evidence of one's senses?

Is there anything in the testimony of one's friends?

Can reliance be placed upon statements from people we know?

Are the opinions of local citizens of any greater moment than those of strangers?

Would you sooner believe people living in some far-away place than citizens of your own city?

We think not for home proof can easily beinvestigated.

Curtis Johnson, of 583 Bishop street, freight truckman, says: "I had backache and lameness across my loins for a year or more. At times the lameness was so acute I could lift nothing and if I stooped it was impossible for me to straighten. When driving there was a steady aching over my kidneys the whole time and I had a dull tired feeling which took away all my ambition. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills from F. Potts Green's drug store and they soon cured me from the whole combination of troubles and they did it quickly and thoroughly. My wife was also suffering from a tired, grinding backache and she used Doan's Kidney Pills and they invigorated her generally. She now speaks of them as highly as I do. We never came across any remedy which surpassed Doan's Kidney Pills."

CONSUMPTION THREATENED.

"I was troubled with a hacking cough for a year and I thought I had consumption," says C. Unger, 211 Maple St., Champaign, Ill. "I tried a great many remedies and I was under the care of physicians for several months. I used one bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar, nott since." C. M. Parrish.

That old copybook maxim finds its most forceful application in the waste of vitality, which is called "burning the candle at both ends." A woman is often tempted beyond her strength by domestic or social demands. Some day she awakens from this waste of strength to the woeful want of it. She has become weak, nervous and miserable.

For weak, nervous, run-down women, there is no better tonic and nervine than Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It restores the appetite, quiets the nerves and gives refreshing sleep. It cures local diseases peculiarly womanly which undermine the general health. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"No doubt you have forgotten me, but after you read my letter you will remember me," writes Mrs. Annie E. Moring, of 238 7th Avenue, S. W., Roanoke, Va. "In the year 1897, I wrote to you for advice, which you gave me free of charge. When I wrote to you I was a wreck; I could not walk straight for pains in my abdomen; could not sit down, lie down, or get any ease at all. I had what was called the best doctor here, but did not get any better until I went through a course of your medicine. I took eight bottles each of 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' and ten bottles of the 'Pleasant Pellets.' I tell you the medicine made a cure of me."

Weak and sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is held as strictly private. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Saw Mill Burned for the Fifth Time

For the fifth time in the history of his lumbering operations at Marsh Creek, near Ansonia, Edward Matson, on Wednesday night, lost his saw mill by fire. The watchman at the mill, about 10:30 o'clock, discovered flames in a remote part of the mill, and in 20 minutes the fire had gained such headway as to be beyond all control. The loss to Mr. Matson is about $20,000, and of that amount there is hardly one third covered by insurance.

It is hard to believe that the five different fires, in each of which his saw mill was destroyed, was the work of an incendiary, but the men are at a loss to know how fire would catch accidentally at the points where some of the fires began—especially that of Wednesday night. Beside the mill three New York Central cars loaded with lumber were destroyed. The mill men, who worked like Trojans, succeeded in preventing the fire from reaching the lumber yards. At the last fire a greater part of the lumber was also burned.

Mr. Matson was at his home in Wellsboro attending a son who is very ill of appendicitis. The mill burned Wednesday night was one of the best equipped plants of the kind in that section of the state, being supplied with all the latest and most improved machinery. The mill and yards were lighted by electricity. Mr. Matson has several million feet of logs in stock and the loss of the mill at this time is unusually serious and is keenly felt.

Nature has just one pigment on her palette with which she produces all the marvelous tints of beauty, and that one pigment is the blood. The shell-like pink beneath the finger nails, the delicate rose of the cheek, the cherry ripeness of the lips, the irridescent brilliance of the eyes are all produced by the blood. Just as the permanence of a beautiful painting will depend upon the purity of the colors with which it is painted, so the permanence of beauty depends on the purity of the blood. Paint, powder and cosmetics won't avail to preserve beauty. Beauty begins in the blood. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a true beautifier, because it provides for nature that pure blood with which alone she can paint. The use of this medicine will cleanse the skin, heighten the complexion brighten the eyes, and give to face and form that radiance of health which is the greatest charm of beauty. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are very effective in ridding the system of clogging residum, which accumulates with constipated habit.

Maxims of a Wealthy Man.

As a part of his will Mayor Anselm Rothschild laid down 12 maxims to the observance of which during life he attributed much of the success he achieved. These maxims are now attracting attention in Europe and are recommended to those who desire to succeed in life.

Seriously ponder over and thoroughly examine every project to which you intend to give your attention.

Reflect a long time and then decide promptly.

Go ahead.

Endure annoyance patiently and fight bravely against obstacles.

Consider honor as a sacred duty.

Never lie about a business affair.

Pay your debts promptly.

Learn how to sacrifice money when necessary.

Do not trust too much to luck.

Spend your time profitably.

Do not pretend to be more important than you really are.

Never become discouraged, work zealously, and you will surely win.

Polygamy in Utah.

On Monday, the 21st inst., Hon. Reed Smoot, a representative from Utah in the United States senate, was re-elected at Salt Lake City an apostle of what is popularly known as the Mormon church. He was elected, also, the leader in the governing body of that organization.

At the services following the election, one of the elders of the church, who, it is reported, has two wives living and a third recently deceased, discussed the subject of polygamy. Here is what he had the brutal temerity to say:

"Polygamy was a revelation to us from the Lord. Polygamy was also stayed by the Lord through a revelation. We are in duty bound to support our wives. If the world don't like it, why—it will have to do the other thing [Laughter.] We believe that Abraham was a good and glorious man. We believe the Bible when it says they shall come from the east, the west, the north and the south, and shall sit with Abraham. I am afraid some of our christian friends won't want to sit with him. They won't be able to bring their wives. [Laughter.] They would probably have more or less objection to his. [Laughter.] Jacob had four wives, but they probably would not go through the gates of Abraham to be with him."

The Philadelphia Ledger in comment on above says:

"To read these words is to understand that the practice of polygamy continues in the state of Utah, and that it continues with the tacit sanction of the Mormon church. Members of that organization who sympathize with the views expressed by the elder who spoke last Monday at Salt Lake City are violating the expressed law of the United States. They are shocking the conscience and the intelligence of this nation. They are making of the federal government an object of pity—and pity, too, in which commiseration is mixed with contempt. Their smug insolence is the repetition in modified form, of Tweed's inquiry: "What are you going to do about it?"

"And, indeed, what are the federal authorities 'going to do about it?' What is the United States senate 'going to do about it?' What is the Hon. Reed Smoot of Utah 'going to do about it?' And, incidentally, what, under the circumstances, is the United States senate going to do about the Hon. Reed Smoot?"

Captured After Being Gone a Year.

C. H. Saveroool, who over a year ago was charged with stealing a horse belonging to George Plunkenhorn, of South Williamsport, and was released on giving bail for court, then escaped, was captured Thursday at Lewisburg by Constable Tepel. Henry Kuntz had gone Savercool's bail and by the time it was found Kuntz had no property both men were gone. Constable Tepel learned of Kuntz's arrest at Sunbury, but the man had explained so plausibly to the police that he was arrested in mistake that they left him go. However, on the same trip Mr. Tepel ran across Savercool at Lewisburg and returned him to jail here. He will answer to the charge of bail jumping and horse stealing. He has intimated that he knows something of some robberies in Center county.—L. H. Times.

Who can beat it.

George Ritter, who resides with his son, School Director Frank E. Ritter, at 118 South Fairview street, and is 92 years of age, Thursday decided that an old apple tree in the rear of the lot four feet in circumference, should be removed, and procuring a pole axe and applying it to the base of the trunk it was but a short time until the tree came crashing to the ground. The old gentleman then proceeded to cut it up, remarking that had he been able to secure a double bitted ax he could have done the job quite easy. Considering Mr. Ritter's age and the fact that he used a pole ax when he was accustomed to a double bit, it is up to the rest of the boys of his own age to beat it. Who can?—Ex.

Family Reunion.

Saturday last a reunion was held by the children of O. K. Love, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Wesley Tate, at Penn Station, Lauvertown. Mr. Love's family consists of five daughters, who with their husbands and children were all present, as were also invited guests, numbering about seventy.

The reunion was held in a grove near the house, on the farm of I. J. Dreese, of Lemont, where swings; etc. had been arranged for the comfort and pleasure of the guests. Tables were put up and at noon they were spread with an abundance of everything that was good of which all heartily partook. The afternoon was spent in a social manner. The following persons were present:

O. K. Love, Lauvertown; Charles Whitehill, wife and five children, Lemont; Henry Shuey, wife and two sons, Lauvertown; Bert Hartman, wife, and four children, Bellefonte; Wesley Tate wife and two children, Lauvertown; Charles Mayes, wife and son, Lemont; Wm. Letter Carriers Must Shave.

"The carriers will hereafter have clean ly shaven faces every morning when they report for duty." That is the notice that confronted the Chester postoffice corps Monday morning and there has been a corner in strops and shaving soap as a result.

Postmaster John A. Wallace explained: The men who serve letters to the people, and who, of course, represent the Government, should certainly look as neat as possible, and no man can present an attractive appearance with a week's growth of hair upon his face. The policemen in all well-regulated cities have to shave every day, and why not letter carriers?"

Whirled About A Shaft.

While at his work at Scotia ore mines Thursday John McKivison was whirled about a shaft and seriously hurt.

The accident was caused by his clothing being caught in the machinery; drawing him about the shaft. He made several revolutions before the machinery could be stopped and when he was released it was found that he was hurt so badly that Dr. Coons, the company physician decided to bring him to the hospital here.

His injuries were dressed at the institution immediately upon his arrival and it was found that he had suffered laceration of the scalp and fractured ribs.

DON'T BE FOOLED INTO DOING SOMETHING ELSE.

"After what I have taken and done it is no wonder I am glad of an opportunity to recommend what cured me to my friends.

I suffered intense agony from gravel for nearly fifteen years.

For five and six weeks at a time I could not work, the pain was so great. My kidneys and bladder were in horrible shape. My back ached so I could not sleep. I had no appetite at all.

I tried about every doctor in Syracuse but they failed to help me.

I used nearly all the advertised medicines without any benefit.

This was my discouraging condition when I began the use of Dr. David Kennedy's Favorite Remedy. I used only four bottles and I consider myself cured. I have no backache at all, no pain in passing urine, my appetite is splendid.

It helped me from the start and I gained twenty pounds in weight."

SOFT CORE

Like the running brook, the red blood that flows through the veins has to come from somewhere.

The springs of red blood are found in the soft core of the bones called the marrow and some say red blood also comes from the spleen. Healthy bone marrow and healthy spleen are full of fat.

Scott's Emulsion makes new blood by feeding the bone marrow and the spleen with the richest of all fats, the pure cod liver oil.

For pale school girls and invalids and for all whose blood is thin and pale, Scott's Emulsion is a pleasant and rich blood food. It not only feeds the blood-making organs but gives them strength to do their proper work.

In Memory of The Dead.

An impressive feature of the visit of the Main circus to Tyrone, this year was the memorial service held by the entire company of show people Thursday evening in Tyrone cemetery over the graves of William Heverly, Barney Multany and William Lee, three of the five victims of the railroad wreck near Tyrone in May, 1893, when Mr. Main's show train was destroyed. The show company, headed by Prof. Dill's band, marched to the cemetery, a long and impressive line, and halted at the graves of Multany and Lee, where the memorial service was conducted by Harry Hodge, a departmental director of the circus. He made a touching address and read a chapter from the Bibie, the band rendered sacred selections, and all the company joined in singing "Nearer My God to Thee." Then the graves were covered with beautiful flowers, and a like decoration was made at the grave of William Heverly. It was a rich floral offering to the memory of the young men who lost their lives on that fateful night ten years ago.

Mr. Main himself was in the body and with him were a few of his staff who had been with him here in 1893. Among those present also were Colonel Hugh Harrison, the manager; Owen W. Dowd, press representative: Mr. Dockrell, equestrian director; George H. Hines, legal representative; and all the vast company of performers, superintendents and workingmen.

A Young Man's Reading.

A young man who reads the Proverbs of Solomon, say once every month, and makes them a part of his principles, of his very being, has a fund of wisdom, a basis of character that will help him in temptation and win him the respect of his fellowmen. It should be read and studied, believed and remembered, and its precepts practiced in daily life.

The next book I can think of and commend to the study of the young (and of the old as well) is the book of Human Nature. It is a large and closed volume, and opens only with the key of severe study and reflection. It contains a wealth of knowledge, and to know the secret springs of action and of motive in our fellowmen, and to be able to guide them to good and useful ends is a power worth effort to obtain

One other book I wish specially to commend to those starting out in life, and that is the book of Debit and Credit. This may apply to character as well as cash.

—Atkinson Addlemen Kelley, a well known and highly respected citizen of Lawrence township, Clearfield county, died at his home Saturday, September 12, of organic heart trouble. Mr. Kelley was born in Half Moon valley, Centre county, on March 12, 1838. His parents moved to Clearfield county about the year 1848, and settled on what is now known as the old Kelley farm near Lumber City. He entered the army in August, 1863, and served until the close of the war. In 1869, he was married to Jerusha Bloom and to this union six children were born, five of whom survive him. He lived with his parents for a number of years, and then purchased the farm where he spent the remainder of his life.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.)
Washington, D. C., Oct. 5. 1903.

President Roosevelt is receiving many congratulations for the firm and skillful manner in which he dealt with the labor problem involved in the Miller controversy. The day following his return to Washington he held a conference with a committee of the American Federation of Labor at which were discussed many bills which union labor intend to bring before Congress. The question of Foreman Miller was also mentioned and the President took the opportunity to inform the labor leader that his attitude on the subject had remained unchanged and that the decision which he was about to give the public was final. After a conference a statement was given out from the White House in which the President declare that the laws of the land forbid any discrimination between union and non-union men in the employ of the government, and that he could no more decide against a man because he did not belong to a union, than because he was a Catholic or Protestant, white or black, Jew or Gentile. For this reason Miller would not be dismissed on the charges made by the Bookbinders Union, and the Government Printing Office as well as all other government bureaus which employ laborers would remain open shops. The labor leaders were evidently disappointed in the Presidents decision but in a statement which they issued the next day "To Organized Labor of America" they refrained from any direct criticism of the Administration although they declare that union labor stood firm for the principle of "union shops" It is believed that John Mitchell whom the President aided during the anthracite coal strike and who took luncheon at the White House on the day of the conference, used his influence to induce the leaders to adopt a conservative course As far as the Administration is concerned, the incident is now closed.

Among many others here who applaud the President's action, Senator Stewart of Nevada said. "I told him that if he wins this fight he now has on his hands he will be immortal. If 8,000,000 of men are able to control 90,000,000 of people the death of the Republic is at hand."

Among the most recent visitors at the White House was Mr. Robert P. Skinner, United States Consul General at Marseilles, France, who is now in Washington making final arrangements for his trip into Abyssinia. He goes there to invite King Menelik to the St. Louis Exposition and at the same time to induce the African monarch to make a commercial agreement with the United States. He will bring to His Majesty a message of friendship and high esteem from President Roosevelt and will attempt to establish diplomatic relations with this country which is already a good purchaser of American goods. Mr. Skinner says that one third of the goods which are imported in Abyssinia come from the United States and that the imports of American cotton goods alone amount to $5,000,000 annually. We get from Menelik's people ivory, hides, carpet wools and other raw materials. An American war ship will take the consul to the African coast and he will be furnished with an escort of United States marines on his trip overland. He hopes to reach the capital of Abyssinia some time in November.

Official social and diplomatic circles in Washington were much grieved last Wednesday to hear that Sir Michael Herbert, the British Ambassador of this country, had died in Switzerland of consumption. Sir Michael had been ill for some time but he hoped to recover his health in Switzerland and return here this fall. He was ambassador but a few months ye he conducted the important negotiations which followed the attack on Venezuela by England and her allies, and also those which resulted in the creation of the Alaskian Boundary Commission which is now in session in London. He was in Washington on two former occasions, once as charge d' affairs and once as secretary of the legation. On his first visit to this country he married an American woman and also became a personal friend of President Roosevelt, who taught him how to play base ball. He was only forty-six years old and was one of the youngest diplomats who ever held an important post in Washington. There has been some speculation here as to his successor but the question has not yet been considered in London.

There is every indication that Congress will make an official investigation of the Post Office Department. President Roosevelt is said to favor it, and to advise the appointment by Congress of a special commission which will make a public investigation similar to that carried out by the famous Lexow committee which made such a thorough exposure of the corruption in the New York city government. The President also hopes to have some influence in deciding the personnel of the committee in case one is authorized. Many republican members of Congress believe that a congressional investigation would be a good political move, as they could thus anticipate the democrats who are certain to introduce such a measure in case the republicans do not. Representative Hemenway of Indiana, who was the confidence of Speak-to-be-Cannon, says, "My idea would be to have a resolution for an investigation introduced at the proper time by a republican member and adopted by the House. The inquiry can be rapidly conducted, after the careful work already accomplished by the department."

The District of Columbia grand jury has found an indictment against W. Scott Towers, postmaster of a Washington sub-station, who is alleged to have accepted a commission from a type-writer company on all goods sold by it to the government. He is said to have received $50 on every book type-writer bought by the government at a price of $200. The payments to him amounted to $1.800. Postmaster General Payne dismissed him as soon as the indictment was made public.

UNIVERSITY EXTENSION.

Arrangements Moving Along Nicely for Series of Lectures.

The committee having charge of the University Extension lectures next February desire to secure, as soon as possible, the names of one hundred and fifty persons who will subscribe to Course tickets. As soon as this number have signified their purpose the immediate expense of the Lecturer will have been met, and it will then be possible to make arrangements to admit the oldest scholars of the High School and the Academy at half price.

No doubt many more than a hundred and fifty will eventually desire to avail themselves of the quite unusual privilege of such a Course of lectures, but it will be a mark of public spirit for at least one hundred and fifty of such minded persons to hand in their names to the Editors of any of the papers of the town, who are all members of the committee, and by whom the list will be published. It appears that the engagement which this committee, has made with Mr. Hosbrough, of the English University extension Society, who is to be in this country three months only, completes his schedule, and we are fortunate to be among those who have succeeded in securing him.

The Course consists of six lectures on the Elizabethan Period of English History. Tickets are $2.00 for the course.

At the beginning of the list of one hundred and fifty people we print the names of the men who have signed the preliminary papers. Others are requested to send word of their intention of adding their names to this list to make up the one hundred and fifty by telephone or otherwise to any of the Editors of the town.

1st vice-president—Mrs. John A. Wood

2nd vice-president—Miss Catharine Buck.

3rd vice president—Mr. Alfred Thompson.

4th vice-president—Miss Ester Gray.

Secretary—Miss Mary Twitmyer.

Treasurer—Mr. W. F. Hall.

Secretary of Junior Department—Mrs. L. F. Eddy.

The ladies and gentlemen in the choir are as follows: Miss Sarah Weirick organist, Mrs. T. A. Pletcher, Misses Lucy Leathers, Alice M. Tipton, Grace Schenck, Ethel Boggs, Marie Boggs, Minnie Hayes, Flora Pletcher, Emma Pletcher, Nellie Weber, Mrs. John Schench, Mrs. W. H. Holter, Misses Ella Hall, Emma Weber, Ella Pletcher, Bernice Tipton and Messrs. Z. T. Weirick, Wm. Pletcher, J. C. Weirick, G. W. Tipton, J. C. Tipton and W. T. Hall as leader.

Miss I Mae Wharton daughter of Rev. R. H. Wharton of Milesburg delivered a most interesting address on "Industry and Fidelity in Successful League Work," Miss Wharton is a pleasant speaker and entertained her audience very much, and brought out some very excellent points as to how the work in the League could be successfully accomplished. She was followed by Rev. G. W. McInay of Spring Mills, who spoke on the subject of "The Epworthian in social life."

This question was left open for discussion before the convention after which all joined in singing "Praise God From Whom all Blessings Flow" and the morning session come to a close by the benediction pronounced by Rev. W. H. Wharton.

FRIDAY AFTERNOON.

The Convention opened in the afternoon by a lively song service after which Rev. E. R. Heckman the new president made an earnest prayer. He was followed by an address from Mrs. M. C. Buck who spoke on the subject of "Juniors." She outlined the work carefully and explained thoroughly how every church could have a successful Junior chapter in connection with a Senior society. Mrs. Latshaw District Secretary of the Junior work read an excellent paper in regard to this good work. She was followed by a very well prepared paper which was read by Mrs. Lyman T. Eddy of Milesburg. Miss Helen Weber recited a little speech which was much appreciated by the convention.

Rev. and Mrs. D. M. Miller of Mill Hall, rendered a very pretty duet entitled "On Sweetly Solemn Thought." A song by five young ladies of the Junior chapter was the next on the program. Rev. D. M. Miller then made a fine address to the juniors,

Miss Catherine Buck of Unionville, 4th vice-president gave a brief report of the social work, followed by a paper on that department, in which she urged every Epworthian to be true to the pledge, careful in choice of amusements, and to carry their christian standard with them always. Rev. and Mrs. Miller then favored us with another vocal selection. Miss Tipton, of Howard then recited "The Influence of small things." The Juniors sang again. Rev. Latshaw, moved that the rule adopted last year, regarding the election of entirely new Cabinet, be annulled, and that hereafter, elected according to efficiency, this carried. Rev. Salter, of Pleasant Gap then extended an invitation for the next Convention. It was unanimously accepted. The Doxology was sung and Rev. Bell dismissed with Benediction.

FRIDAY EVENING.

The session opened by song service. Prayer by Rev. Heckman. Rev. Horace Lincoln Jacobs of Ridge Avenue church, Harrisburg, Pa., was then introduced and gave a powerful address on "The Three Forces" speaking of the three "M's."—The first "M." Mighty Muscle "The first essential of national greatness; of national progress.

The second "M."—Masterful mentality an intellect trained to search, to reason, to find, and then to utilize, is the masterful mind.

The third "M."—Magnetic Morality, It comes from God, and is founded on reason. Next a male quartette was rendered. An offering was taken, after which Rev. Bell gave the closing address urging the practical application of the many helpful things heard.

JAMES J. BRISBIN DEAD.

Passed Away at His Home at West Medford, Massachusetts on Saturday.

Word was received in Bellefonte Monday morning of the death of James J. Brisbin who was well and favorably known in our town and throughout the state.

He has been in ill health for the past two years, suffering from nervous prostration but nevertheless the announcement of his death was received with a great shock by his many friends in Bellefonte.

He was at one time one of our honored and highly respected citizens and with his father was connected with the Bellefonte Republican managed by W. W. Brown. He was also a member of the old Bellefonte Band of which only four are living.

In the dark days of '61 he was one of the men who raised what was known as the "W. W. Brown's Sharp Shooters" he himself was made 2nd Lieutenant, W. W. Brown was the captain and James H. Rankin 1st Lieutenant. This company was attached to the 56 Pennsylvania vol. Reg. Inft, at Harrisburg. He was a faithful soldier and always found at his post of duty. For injuries received while in different battles he was honorably discharged.

Lieutenant James J. Brisbin was about 60 years old. He was married to Miss Fannie Toner, a sister of Mrs. Henry P. Harris and a daughter of the late John Toner of Bellefonte. The funeral occurred on Tuesday from his late residence, West Medford, near Boston, Mass.

SMALL POX IN CENTRE COUNTY.

State College and Oak Hall Visited by the Disease.

Small pox has again broken out in Centre County. This unwelcome news reached Bellefonte Tuesday by telephone from State College where one of the cases exists. There is also a case at Oak Hall and three children have just recovered from the disease at the last named placed.

Several days ago Mrs. Samuel Knoff of State College was taken sick and Dr. Glenn of that place was summoned to attend her. The patient displayed all the symptoms of typhoid fever but Monday evening it developed into a clear case of small pox and Dr. Glenn had her removed to a pest house located about two miles from the village. The woman lived in the village and it is claimed by the authorities that there is no danger of a further spread of the disease and that they are taking every precaution to prevent it. Mrs. Knoff contracted the disease at Oak Hall and here a worse state of affairs exists. Two weeks ago Mrs. Knoff visited her brother at Oak Hall and while there helped to nurse her sisters three children who were visiting there from Pittsburg. It was supposed the children had chicken pox but it is now certain that it was small pox. When they were recovering they were allowed to mingle with the people and now a panic exists there. The children have about recovered but their uncle Al Knoff is now down with the disease.

It is hoped that the further spread of this dread disease may be averted.

RESOLUTIONS OF REGRET.

Adopted by Ministerial Association on Departure from Our Midst of Rev. T. W. Perks.

At a regular meeting of the Bellefonte Ministerial Association the following Resolutions were adopted.

Resolved that it is with sincere regret that we the members of the Bellefonte ministerial association, part with our Brother and fellow co-worker Rev. T. W. Perks S. T. D. as he leaves our midst for his new field of labor at Madison Pa. Further be it.

Resolved that we record our appreciation of the earnest zeal and hearty co-operation evidenced by Bro. Perks in every phase of Christian work and heartily commend him to the confidence and fellowship of the ministers and the Christian community into which he is about to move.

Resolved that these resolutions be entered upon the minutes of this Association and a copy be sent to Brother Perks and be submitted for publication in the Republican.

Miss Knisely a Winner.

One of the most interesting voting contests ever held in Bellefonte was the DAILY NEWS contest for six seats to witness Chas. B. Hanford produce the "Taming of the Shrew" at Garman's Opera House Tuesday evening.

The contest closed at noon Monday 3492 votes were cast and Miss Pearl Knisely was the fortunate young lady whose popularity won the prize. She received 1530 votes. She is a student at the Bellefonte High School and the only daughter of Mr. John Knisely of this city.

Miss Bessie Brouse, daughter of R. S. Brouse, was second and Miss Katherine Heinle, daughter of Senator Heinle, third. The fight was a close one, all the contestants holding their votes back until the last minute so that the result was uncertain until the final count.

The final count gave the following result:

HIGH SCHOOL.

Miss Pearl Knisely	1530
" Bessie Brouse	1126
" Florence Lowry	31

ACADEMY.

Miss Katherine Heinle	803

THE ORGAN HAS ARRIVED

This handsome Chapel Organ made by the Hobart M. Cable Company of Chicago which the BELLEFONTE REPUBLICAN will present to the Church or Sunday School in Centre County receiving the most votes on coupon cut from the paper, arrived this week and is now on exhibition in one of the windows at M. Died of Convulsions.

On Wednesday afternoon Miss Susan McKean, daughter of John and Margaret McKean died at her parents home at Hunter's Run of convulsions after an illness of three days duration.

Deceased was born at Hunter's Run and was aged 23 years. Surviving her are her parents and the following brothers and sisters, Mrs. John Stike, Mrs. Samuel Haines, Mrs. Fred Resides, Mrs. Harry Long, James, Harry and David McKean.

The funeral services were held in the Hunter's Run M. E., church, Rev. Boggs officiating. Friday morning.

The pall-bearers were Dill Davis, Thomas Confer, Harry, James and David McKean. Interment in the cemetery at Eagleville.

Death of Mrs. George Glenn.

Mrs. Cora Glenn, wife of George Glenn died at her home on Half Moon Hill Friday afternoon. Death was the result of a tumor, she having been ill for some time.

The deceased whose maiden name was Cora Hetzel was born at Aaronsburg, Centre county, June 9, 1869. She was married to George Glenn, of Bellefonte, fourteen years ago.

She is survived by her mother, Mrs. Annie Hetzel, of Aaronsburg, her husband and one child Anna. Also two brothers and a sister as follows: Palmer, of Philadelphia, Arney, of Aaronsburg; and Mrs. Shearer, of Center Hall.

The funeral took place Monday morning from St. John's Reformed church. Rev. Ambrose Schmidt, officiated. Interment in the Union cemetery.

Veterans Re-union.

The 22nd Pa. Vol Cavalry will have a reunion at Winchester, Va., Oct., 21 1903. They will there meet the 54th Pa. Vol. Infantry and be entertained by McNeil's Confederate Partisan Rangers, who used to help to give them a warm reception away back in the sixties, by Turner Ashby Camp of Confederate Veterans, and by the Mayor and people of Winchester who promise them a cordial welcome.

The six months battalion of the 22nd Pa. Cav. started out from Mt. Union and most of its members afterwards joined the three year regiment made up, half from Washington and Greene counties and half from Huntingdon, Center, Mifflin, Blair, Bedford, Fulton and the counties of the Cumberland Valley, and this will be the first reunion of the whole regiment that has been held since the war. The secretary, Dr. A. R. McCarty, Mt. Union, Pa., does not have a third of the addresses of members, and he would be glad if the newspapers in these counties would make a note of this meeting and request all survivors who can attend the reunion to send him their addresses and write for excursions orders.

[Judge Love and a number of other Centre county people were members of this regiment.—Editor.]

Wedding Bells.

One of the most delightful social events of the season took place at the palatial home of Mr. and Mrs. Diller Buck, near Warriorsmark, Thursday, Oct. 1, at high noon. It was the marriage of their daughter, Miss Della Buck, to Lloyd E. Confer, of Pittsburg.

A few moments before the hour announced for the wedding Rev. E. M. Aller, pastor of the M. E. church, took his position on the large veranda facing the public road, while the invited guests numbering over one hundred and twenty-five, occupied the beautiful lawn surrounding the house. Promptly at twelve o'clock the bridal party appeared and the ceremony was performed. Miss Eva Ebbs, of Loveville, presided at the organ and rendered the wedding march with beautiful effect.

After congratulations the guests were ushered into the dining room where a sumptuous dinner was served. The women of Warriorsmark Valley are known, far and near, as good cooks, and Mrs. Buck, under whose supervision this dinner was prepared, has contributed her full share toward keeping up this enviable reputation. The presents were numerous and useful. After their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Confer will locate in Pittsburg.

Sharkey has applied for a patent on a portable Spring-house(?). There is to be only one manufactured which one he and his cousin Roll will own in partnership.

When we heard there was to be a Bucknell—Indian foot ball game last Saturday it was at once plain why our friend Mr. Kech of Bucknell had been so solicitous during the summer to ascertain the proper way to bury an Indian. Some ill humored people had even intimated that his brother (with 3 or 4 others) on one occasion secretly invaded the sacred soil of Indian Grave Hill near Snow Shoe for the purpose of investigating the mode of burial employed by the Indians themselves some 80 or more years ago. They also go so far as to hint that he made these researches for and at the instigation of his brother. It is more charitable however to believe that if Bob did visit this ancient burial place that it was in the interest of science only. And now since the contest is over we see that the reported investigations of the Messrs. Kech availed Bucknell nothing for the Red-skins showed their ability to scalp any pale-face from Union County.

The first session of the borough council for the month of October was held Monday night in the usual place and the following members were present: President Cunningham, Jenkins, Mallory, Kirk, Wise, Derstine and Fenlon.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the clerk, Mr. W. T. Kelly and there being no corrections they stood approved.

Burgess Walker, Treasurer Meek, Water Superintendent Ryan and Street Commissioner Shaughnessy added dignity to the occasion by their presence.

Quite a number of prominent citizens of the town were in attendance, namely, John P. Harris, Frank McCoy, Archibald Allison and J. H. Sands. It was something unusual to see so many in attendance at a council meeting and the reporter was at a loss to know the cause. It was however explained later.

Mr. Frank McCoy stated that the object of the presence of himself and Messrs. Harris and Allison was on behalf of the Bellefonte Electric Company whose contract for lighting the street expires January 1, 1904. They asked for a renewal of the contract for another five years. They expect to enlarge their plant and are anxious to know whether they are to get the street lighting again. After improvements are made they hope to reduce the price of light.

Mr. Harris spoke upon the same line as Mr. McCoy.

J. H. Sands asked for a pavement grade in front of his property on North Allegheny street.

Chairman Derstine of the Street committee reported progress on the new Water street wall.

Chairman Fenlon of the Water committee suggested the name of J. Kennedy Johnston to collect the water tax both for last year and this year. A proposition has made looking toward the settlement of the disputed water rent.

Chairman Jenkins of the market committee reported that Street Commissioner Thos. Shaughnessy had turned into the treasury $4.20 from market fees collected.

Propositions looking to the settlements of the water rents of the Brockerhoff House, Bush House, Palace Livery, Mrs. M. H. Wilson, the Watchman and Centre Democrat were read. Mr. Fenlon was in favor of accepting these offers and avoiding a law suit. This excited a great deal of discussion pro and con. Dr. Kirk was in favor of making them settle on the old basis.

The report of the Boro Treasurer was as follows:

The request of the Electric Light Company for some definite guarantee of a renewal of street lighting contract was laid on the table for the present.

The request of Mr. Sands in regard to pavement grade was referred to street committee.

The council confirmed the election of Patrick Garrity, as Fire Marshall and Alex Morrison and Homer Barnes as 1st and 2nd Assistants.

Street profiles of Allegheny street from Pike alley to Linn street were placed on record. The work was done by S. Kline Woodring.

Burgess Walker submitted his report for the month of September turning in $31.50 for fines and licenses collected.

Chairman Derstine reported that he could not find out who owned James McCafferty property on East Logan street whose boardwalk is so generally complained off. Mr. Fenlon moved seconded by Dr. Kirk that the James McCafferty boardwalk be built after proper notice and that the property be proceeded against for the costs. It was so ordered.

Mr. Jenkins moved that the Water Committee be instructed to settle the disputed water question. He offered the following resolution: Resolved that the Water Committee are hereby instructed and authorized to settle and adjust any disputes relative to charge for water used prior to Oct. 1, 1903 by meter measurement. Such settlement to be final as to cases now in dispute but to be without prejudice to boro and to have no influence or bearing on rate after Oct. 1, 1903.

It was seconded by Mr. Fenlon. The ayes and nays were called for, Messrs. Derstine, Fenlon, Jenkins, Mallory and Wise voted aye. Dr. Kirk and Mr. Cunningham voted nay. The motion therefore carried.

After hearing the bills council adjourned.

The following bills were approved and orders drawn:

FALL OPENING DISPLAY OF PIANOS.

Our most interesting display of all the latest designs of High Grade Pianos as well as Organs in piano case, chapel and parlor style, a showing which has never been equaled here, which means it will be well worth seeing.

PUSHING UP BUSINESS

by pushing down prices is the one way to succeed, so long as merit is not sacrificed. We think we have attained "the golden means" by keeping up quality in Pianos and giving prices a gentle push downward. You won't think it—you'll know it when you see and hear our instruments and learn our prices.

We offer this week a number of excellent Pianos just returned from rent. They were new when they went out and have been in use only a few months. A special price will be made on them.

We have also a large line of all the well known makes of Organs at special bargains, $15.00, $20.00, $25.00 and upwards suited for homes and school purposes. Organs to rent at moderate prices. Call or address

Mischter Druckr!—Viel Leit wunnere, for was as mir eegentlich die Loyers brauche. D'r gesund Menscheverstand sot sage, was recht un was net recht is un do breicht mer dann ken Loyer. Sell is allrecht, awer d'r Richter weeß net allfort, wie die Sache stehe, weil er nun beede Seite angeloge werd, un net en jeder Dschudsch is so gescheid, wie d'r weise Salomon. Do is es dann gut, wann en Loyer en bissel natierlicher Verstand hot oder Gritz, wie mer segt. So en Loyer gebt's in Filbelfi, wie ich herzlich gelese hab. Dort wohne ime zweestöckige Haus zwee Pärties. Die Leit im obere Stock hen ken Wasserrohr gehat un die arm Frah hot misse alles Spielwasser un Waschwasser die Stieg nunnerdrage. Ihr Mann hot welle en Wasserrohr hiefire, awer d'r Mann im unnere Stock hot ihn net gelosst. Do is d'r ober Mann ewe zu sellem Loyer un hot ihn for Roth gefrogt. „Wie viel Schornstee sen in sellem Haus?" frogt d'r Loyer. —„Juscht eener," segt d'r Mann.—„Werry well," segt d'r Loyer, „nau gehst Du dra un mauerst seller Schornstee unnig Deim Oferohr zu. Wann Dei Wasser net nunner derf, dann derf ah sei Schmoht net nuf. Verstanne?" Er hot es so gemacht un es hot kee zwee Dag genumme, bis er die Erlahbniß gehatt hot for sei Wasserrohr.—Uf kohrs werd nau en Mancher sage, sell wär leicht zu beseite geweßt, awer wie viel Loyer wäre uf die Eidie gekumme? Des is en Fall wie mit em Columbus un em Oi: wie er's uf die Spitz gestellt hot, do henn's die Annere ah gekennt.

Do is noch so en Stick, was vor viele Johre ergedswo in Pennsylvanien (oder sunstwo) gehäppent is. Drei Butscher sen zusamme fort for en Trupp Vieh zu kahfe. Se hen ime Werthshaus gestappt, was vun ere Frah is gehalte worre. Owends hen se noch en Waht nemme welle un hen der Frah ihr Geld gewe zum Ufhewe—iwer en daused Dhaler—mit em Verständniß, daß se es juscht rausgebt, wann se alle Drei zusamme sen. Die Männer sen dann fort, awer en Vertelstund später kummt eener vun ihne zurick un frogt for des ganze Geld. Se hätte en Trupp Vieh gebroffe, was se kahfe wotte, un seine Boddies wäre zurickgebliewe, daß Niemand sunscht en Dschäns dran kriegt, bis se des Geld hätte. Die gut Frah hot ihm geglahbt un ihm des Geld rausgewe, un sell war des letscht, as vun ihm is gesehne worre. En Stund später sen die annere Zwee zurickkumme un wie se ausgefunne hen, was vorgefalle war, hen se ihr Geld verlangt. Die Frah hot gesaht, daß se net nochemol bezahle dät. Do hen die zwee Butscher sie verklagt un ah Dschudschment gegich se kriegt. D'r nächst Dag is en junger Mann in die Werthschaft kumme un hot en Glas Bier trunke. „Was fehlt, Mammy?" frogt er, wie er sehnt, daß die Frah ganz verheult ausguckt. Se hot ihm die ganz Transaktschen verzählt, un d'r jung Mann hot zu ihr gesaht, se sot ihm die Kehs gewe, er wot des schun allrecht fixe un es dät se nix koschte. Er wär en junge Loyer un wot sich do sei Sporte verdiene, wie mer so sage dät. Die Frah hot net viel Hoffning g'hat, hot awer alles gedhu, was er ihr gesaht hot. D'r nächst Dag is er mit ihr un die zwee Butscher zum Dschudsch un hot gesaht: „Die do Frah hot dun die drei Butscher des Geld kriegt zum Ufhewe, un es war ausgemacht, daß se es juscht zurickgebt, wann alle Drei beisamme sen. Nau kumme zwee dun ihne un welle des Geld hawe. Do kann nix draus werre, alle drei misse beisamme sei, so laut d'r Bargen."—„Sell is korrekt," segt d'r Dschudsch. „Bringt den dritte Mann her, dann mache mir die Frau bezahle, net ehnder."—Die zwee Butscher hen lange Gesichter gemacht, awer es hot ihne nix gebatt. Wer war glicklicher, wie selle Frah! D'r jung Loyer awer hot werklich sei Sporte verdient mit seiner erschte Kehs un er hot in korzer Zeit en gute Präktis gehat. So ebbes segt sich rum. Bei d'r Werthsfrah war er hoch angesehne un hot se zuerscht alsemol un später schier alle Dag besucht—iwens in die Kich naus is er gange. Un weil ich doch derbei bin, en Storie zu schreiwe, so will ich ah en End derzu mache, was die junge Mäd pliest. Aha, werre se sage, er hot die Werthin geheiert! Nix dun d'r Art. Er hot ihre eenzige Dochter, en bildsauber Mädel, zur Frah genumme. Un wann er nau segt, sei erschte Kehs hät sich unzahlbar bezahlt, dann glahbe es ihm alle Leit. Es springe ah schun en hoor junge Loyers rum.

CAPT. HENRY STEVENS.

Veteran of the Mexican War Dies at His Home in Centre Line.

Capt. Henry Stevens, who served his country faithfully as a soldier during the Mexican War died at his home in Centre Line, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock of kidney trouble.

Deceased was a native of Centre county having first saw the light of day at Gatesburg 80 years ago.

His military record was a brilliant one for he served both in the Mexican and Civil wars. In the latter he was Captain of Company E, 45th Regiment of Pennsylvania Volunteers. His company was the color company of the regiment and saw some active service.

His wife preceeded him to the grave several years ago but he leaves four children to mourn the loss of a kind and indulgent father.

He was a member of the Lutheran church and quite an active farmer and stockman. He was a good citizen and will be greatly missed in the community in which he lived.

The funeral took place Friday morning at 10 o'clock, from his late residence. Interment in the Gatesburg cemetery.

Wire Thieves Arrested.

Charles Hess, white, of Harrisburg, and John Randolph, colored, of Charleston, N. C., were arrested by railroad officers at Altoona and were Friday given sixty days each in jail for trespassing. The real charge against these men, however, is stealing copper wire from telegraph poles, and evidence is being gathered to convict them on this charge.

It is thought that these men belong to a gang of thieves who have been stealing copper wire in Blair, Cambria and Huntingdon counties for some time past. Some weeks ago 2,000 pounds of wire was stolen from poles belonging to the Postal Telegraph company, located between Hollidaysburg and Huntingdon; a little later 100 pounds was cut from the Western Union poles and the Cambria County Telephone company's poles between Gallitzin and Cresson, and some more was stolen near Claysburg. It is thought that the wire may be hidden somewhere in the mountains near here and an effort will be made to locate it.

Randolph was arrested by a railroad officer on Wednesday. He had endeavored to sell an Altoona junk dealer several hundred pounds of wire for $50. The police got wind of the deal and this led to the capture. Hess was also arrested on Wednesday, near EF tower. He had fifty pounds of wire with him when the police caught him.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

"YOM KIPPUR" FESTIVAL.

Marks Close of Ten-Day New Year's Program in the Jewish Calendar.

Stores owned by Jewish merchants in this city were closed at 6 Thursday evening and remained so until 6 p. m. Friday, in honor of Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement.

The ten days which began at 6 o'clock Monday evening and closed at 6 p. m. today are devoted in the Jewish calendar to the New Year's festival of the race, Rosh Hashonah. Yom Kippur is observed by the Orthodox Jews as a fast day. Various impressive customs form part of the ceremonial. In some localities, that there may be no rancor or misfortune in their lives for the coming year, the family partake of no bitter herbs or fruit at the evening meal on the first of the ten days. Just after grace is said, a sweet apple is dipped in honey and eaten, with the wish that the twelve months to come may be filled with the sweetness of prosperity and good will.

At the beginning of the evening service the Orthodox Jew dons his shroud, as prepared to meet his Maker. Indeed, it is believed that one's actions at this time influence largely the writing in the dread book of fate. Many who attend the synagogue at no other time in the year go then, and many a man who has not spoken with his neighbor for a twelvemonth grasps him by the hand, and they settle their differences. All litigation is avoided during the whole period.

Wealth and the Man.

Wealth is but relative. A million now is as but $100,000 a hundred years ago. And then in this land was a group of landed aristocracy, an oligarchy of slave owners, a class above the mass who, like Dr. Hill's pampered sons and daughters of today, still sought the primrose path. Poor old human nature! It is much the same the world over day in, day out. God isn't trying the American people especially. Rather do we believe that the same natural laws work now as hitherto. If you eat too much your head aches. If you drink too much you suffer of various diseases and are likely to die as a whiff of smoke disappears in thin air. If you run an automobile against a tree you are likely to split your head. If you travel too fast a life you are likely to collide with eternal things. The early ripe and the early rotten are waste by products of life. Man goes on digging, delving, doing things. Such a man of wealth as Peter Cooper Hewitt, who, instead of swelling around in a yacht loaded with champagne, puts his time into inventing such marvelous things as the mercury lamp, the electric interrupter, and the electric converter, is a signal example that there are men and men, thank God.—Ex.

Bankers' Convention.

Financiers from every section of the state of Pennsylvania and from New York, Chicago, Cincinnati and other centres attended the ninth annual convention of the Pennsylvania Bankers' Association at Pittsburg last week. Addresses of welcome were made by W. B. Rogers, city solicitor, on behalf of the city of Pittsburg, and James H. Willock for the bankers.

A carriage ride through the parks and residence section was given the delegates and their guests Wednesday afternoon. Wednesday night Group Eight of the association tendered a reception and smoker to their fellow members in the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley.

The convention closed Thursday. Addresses were made by ex-Comptroller Charles G. Dawes and William H. Smith, of Philadelphia, representing the banking department of Pennsylvania.

—"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin." This familiar quotation was never more apt to my mind than when I heard it said by a quiet looking old gentleman in a prominent restaurant, as he watched a crowd of swell dressed and well bred diners singing and tapping responsive feet to an East Side song. This song was called "Over in Cupid' Park," and is by Malcolm Clark, a well known song writer. This remark brought to my mind the reflection, that these ballads of the so called lower classes are invariably as popular among people of refinement as with the denizens of the East Side. They some how get down to the heart of things, and possess that touch of nature which brings responsive smiles and tears. This was, and is still the charm of the Harrigan songs. Witness his latest successes "When Mamie, Sweet Mamie's a Bride," "The Fringe of Society," and "What's De Use," the latter a pathetic wail of a down trodden little tough girl. "Maggie Murphy's Home," "Pretty Mollie Shannon," and "Peggy" three songs of a kind also fairly swept the country, and were familer everywhere. Except for the fact that the most highly cultured of us has a heart which responds to the simple and natural, these unrefined, though melodious little songs never catch on and charm the whole country as they invariably do.

NEVER ASK ADVISE.

When you have a cough or cold don't ask what is good for it and get some medicine with little or no merit or perhaps dangerous. Ask for Foley's Honey and Tar, the greatest throat and lung remedy, it cures coughs and colds quickly.

THE FARM LABOR QUESTION

How Can the Grange Help In Solving the Farm Help Problem?

The scarcity of farm help both indoors and outdoors the past harvest season has forced farm people to think seriously as to what will be the outcome. Wages of farm laborers have increased nearly one-third in the last decade, while the supply of farm help has diminished in about the same ratio. The farmer has been trying to tide over this pressure by working a little harder himself. The good wife and children have "helped out" in many an emergency, but the long continued strain proves to us that we cannot endure this high pressure very much longer. A suggestion of a solution to this problem is given by Hon. F. W. Redfern, which is worthy of consideration. He says:

"The scarcity of really good men, men who understand farm operations, is coming to be severely felt. Farmers are anxiously inquiring, 'What are we going to do for help on the farm?' Some one says, 'Use more machinery.' Yes, but that is only a partial solution of the work question, for men must be had to work the machinery. The problem of getting them still confronts us. A solution must be had, however. It must come through a change in cropping, a curtailment of production or a resort to the importation of labor from countries having an excess. The present demand for marketable products precludes very much change in cropping, at least of such a character as would allow with doing away with hired help on the ordinary farm. Curtailment of production cannot be thought of, because that would bring distress. The people must be fed. The remedy would seem then to be in importation of farm laborers. The question then is, How can this be brought about? Simply enough. A general appeal might be made by our agriculturists to the chief of the department of agriculture at Washington, asking that the United States consuls abroad be instructed to make inquiry as to the location of farm laborers who would be willing to migrate to the United States and report their findings to Washington.

"An information bureau could be established and arrangements made with the authorities in Washington as to the number of laborers desired and in what localities needed. All that would be needed could no doubt be induced to come. A dearth of laborers for the mine or workshop is readily filled by importation of miners and mechanics from the overthronged districts of Europe. Why not try the experiment on our farms and thereby solve the question of farm labor?"

The question now comes, Is this a matter where the national grange could urge upon congress to take some action that will allow farmers more latitude in regard to the employment of foreign laborers?—Michigan Quarterly Bulletin.

GRANGE NEWS.

Local Papers Recognize the Demand For It.

We note with encouragement the way in which the press of New York state, and even other states, is throwing open its columns to grange news. More grange departments have been started by newspapers within the past six months than ever before. Papers which ten years ago had no space for grange news are now giving from one to four columns a week to it. They have simply recognized a demand for this kind of reading on the part of the public. An ideal grange department in a local paper should contain all the real news pertaining to the order. But it should be more than a purely news department. It should furnish food for thought along lines of grange work. It should contain such reading matter as could be used with profit by the lecturer in the meetings, and it should at all times aim to furnish such articles as will broaden and educate. It should also be the aim of the editor of a grange department to keep abreast of the best sentiment and thought of the day in this chosen field.—Overseer George A. Fuller.

The Subordinate Grange.

If a grange fails to be interesting or attractive no sense of duty will long prompt members to attend. The membership of the grange is composed of a class of persons whose lives are given to labor and who usually are surfeited with brain wearying cares and business at home and who value the grange for the recreation and pleasant times it affords them as much as for the pecuniary benefits and intellectual development it brings. It has been the mistake of many well meaning officers to stuff their members with intellectual nutrition without sweetening, flavoring or salting and then blame the subjects because their appetite palls.—S. E. Strode.

Cluster of New Islands.

Some sixty-four miles off the coast of Tunis a cluster of little islands has been discovered, says the Indianapolis News. One was found to be inhabited by a former French sergeant, Clement, who had disappeared some fourteen years ago, and a small number of natives. The islands have been annexed by France and Clement appointed resident inspector of fishing and of the harbor, registrar and teacher.

Lincoln and Curtin.

By Col. James Matlock Scovil.

Gov. Andrew G. Curtin was one of Pennsylvania's greatest men during war times. When the writer of this story had a regiment in Harrisburg three days before the battle of Gettysburg I heard the Governor make a speech to the soldiers in the public square.

He said, "Soldiers remember I promise you I will not play the administration at Washington on you." This angered Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of War, very much. He complained to Lincoln of the manner in which the Governor of Pennsylvania performed the orders of the War Department, complaining bitterly over every order and yet performing them. In other words, he kept the word of promise to the hope, but broke it to the ear.

Mr. Lincoln was a good judge of men and quickly learned the peculiar traits of character of those with whom he had to deal. He pointed out a marked trait in Governor Andrew G. Curtin of Pennsylvania, and was earnest, able and untiring in keeping up the war spirit of his State but was at times overbearing and exacting in his intercourse with the general government.

Upon one occasion he complied and protested more bitterly than usual and warned those in authority that the execution of the War Department orders in this State would be beset with difficulties and dangers.

The tone of his dispatches gave rise to an apprehension that he might not cooperate fully in the enterprise at hand. The Secretary of War, in anger, laid the dispatches before the President for advisory instructions. They did not disturb Mr. Lincoln in the least. In fact, they rather amused him.

After reading all the papers, he said in a cheerful and reassuring tone: "Mr. Secretary, never mind these despatches, they don't mean anything; just go right ahead. Governor Curtin is like a boy I once saw at the launching of a ship; when everything was ready they picked out this boy and set him on the ship to knock away the trigger and let her go. At the critical moment everything depended on that boy. He had to do the job well by a direct, vigorous blow, and then lie flat and keep still while the ship slid over him. The boy did everything right, but he yelled as if he was being murdered, from the time he got under the keel till he got out. I thought the skin was all scraped off his back, but his hide was not touched.

"The master of the yard told me that this boy was always chosen for that job, that he did his work well, that he had never been hurt, but that he always squealed in that way.

"That's just the way," continued Mr. Lincoln, "that Governor Andy Curtin does. Make up your mind that he is not hurt, that he is doing the work right, and pay no attention to the squealing. He only wants to make you understand how hard his task is."

This is Lincoln's biography in brief of Governor Curtin and is a perfect description of the man.

CAMPMEETING RULES.

United Brethren in Conference Decide on Positive Restrictions.

At the meeting of the Allegheny conference of the United Brethren church in Philipsburg, the Rev. S. F. Hough, of Altoona, read the report of the Committee on Campmeetings, and the following resolutions were adopted:

First—All restaurants must close and all sales cease during the hours of worship.

Second—All disorderly persons shall be compelled to leave the grounds immediately.

Third—All diversions, such as walking about the preaching place, smoking, and talking during the services, are strictly forbidden within the tent enclosure.

Fourth—The distinct purpose and aim of these grove meetings should be Bible study, popular and devotional, the preaching of the Gospel, conference on methods and evangelistic meetings.

Fifth—That we, the ministers of Allegheny conference, pledge ourselves not to attend any camp that will not comply with the above requirements.

—Charles Atherton, 26 years of age, who has been living near Mt. Union, decided a few days ago to go to Pittsburg where he hoped to obtain a position. For three years he had been paying attention to Miss Alice Hardy, aged 16 years, of Mt. Union. She decided to go with him and they intended getting married as soon as they arrived in Pittsburg. But when their destination was reached the young lady, with tears, begged to go back home. They were found sitting on a railroad embankment by two police officers who thinking them suspicious characters took them before a justice; but there the magistrate promised to secure a position for the young man and the girl was sent to a well-known family where she could obtain work and shelter.

Forestry School Open.

The Pennsylvania school of Forestry, the first to be established in any northern State, says the Chambersburg Repository, was opened at Mont Alto last week in the Wiestling homestead, which the state recently purchased for that purpose. There are now fourteen young men studying to become expert foresters. This is the limit that can be accommodated at this time. The appropriation is naturally small in the beginning, but it is expected as money is available to materially increase the number.

Each young man receives thirty dollars per month. Out of this he is expected to clothe and board himself. He is supposed to furnish his own horse, feed for which is furnished by the State. The students are made policemen of the reservation to protect it from damage in any manner.

The school is for the purpose of instructing the students in mathematics, engineering, botany and forestry. Four teachers are now at the school. For the remuneration received the young men are expected to give at least half of their time to constabulary work and whatever other duties may be imposed upon them. The other half is spent in the school room The young men come from the different counties of the state. By this arrangement the State not only derives the benefit of the work they do on the reservation for a small outlay, but educates the boys of our own commonwealth and makes of them expert foresters instead of having to bring in such assistance from other states. The only other school of a similar nature is in North Carolina, and since Pennsylvania has purchased such large tracts of land in this State it is but right that our own boys should be given the opportunity to become superintendents of the reservations. There is now a great demand for foresters all over the world. Other countries have received many from the school at North Carolina, and given them responsible positions. Under Commissioner Rothrock's supervision and with the appropriations Pennsylvania will give him it is fair to presume that the Mont Alto school in Franklin county will be come prominent throughout the entire country.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

by local applications as they cannot reach the disease portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous services.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

More Truth Than Poetry.

Young man, did you ever put your arms around your dear old mother who has loved and cared for you and tell her that you love her and are grateful for the tears she has shed and the prayers she has offered for you? She may think that you love her without you assuring her that you do, but it costs you but little effort to tell her and your words may bring more joy and sunshine to her heart than you ever dreamed of. Some young men will pay $2 for a livery rig to ride three hours with a seventy-five-cent girl and tell her all the nice things they can think of that are true, and more that are not true and don't spend five cents or five minutes in a year to show their old mother that they care anything for her.

DIETING INVITES DISEASE.

To cure Dyspepsia or indigestion it is no longer necessary to live on milk and toast. Starvation produces such weakness that the whole system becomes an easy prey to disease. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that one cares to eat, and is a never failing cure for indigestion, Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles. Kodol digests what you eat—makes the stomach sweet. Sold by Green's Pharmacy.

John M. Neidig.

Died at the home of Lewis Winegardner, at Fiedler last Thursday, of dropsy, aged 58 years, 7 months and 13 days. He has left to survive two brothers, Jacob, of Haines township, and Daniel, of State College, and one sister, Mrs. Samuel Kreamer, of Fiedler. Funeral services were held on Sunday morning and interment was made in the St. Paul cemetery. Rev. F. E. Lauffer conducted the services.

Believed to Have Committed Suicide.

Mamie, the daughter of John Buzzard, a Jefferson county farmer, living about four miles from Panther Run, is believed to have committed suicide. The girl was between 16 and 17 years old, and was attending the public school. The school house is some distance from Buzzard's house and there is a bridge over a creek to cross on the way. The girl went on her way as usual that day, accompanied by some other small children. When they reached the bridge Miss Buzzard stopped and the others went on.

After an hour or more at school the children began to wonder why Miss Buzzard did not come and finally they went back to the bridge. The girl was nowhere to be seen, but her school books were found lying on the bridge. A further search was made and her body was found in the water.

Nobody knows of any cause for suicide, yet that appears to be the accepted theory. The district is rather isolated, strangers or hard characters do not frequent the section and there appears to be no other plausible theory.

A CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA.

I had Dyspepsia in its worst form and felt miserable most all the time. Did not enjoy eating until after I used Kodol Dyspepsia Cure which has completely cured me.—Mrs. W. W. Saylor, Hilliard, Pa. No appetite, loss of strength, nervousness, headache, constipation, bad breath, sour rising, indigestion, dyspepsia and all stomach troubles are quickly cured by the use of Kodol. Kodol represents the natural juices of digestion combined with the greatest known tonic and reconstructive properties. It cleanses, purifies and sweetens the stomach. Sold at Green's Pharmacy.

Thunder Storm and Milk.

Men of science have never been able to explain why a thunderstorm spoils milk, beer, meat, and other articles of consumption. The latest German theory is that there is some injurious electric influence, which also causes headache or depression in many sensitive persons just before a storm.

BRIEF MENTION

—The good people of the Lutheran church are preparing to give an Oyster supper on the 29th and 30 of Oct.

—The State Convention of the Daughters of the American Revolution will occur at Carlisle the middle of October.

—We are glad to note that Charles R. Rine is able to be about again having fully recovered from his recent serious attack of blood poisoning.

—There was no services at the Lutheran church on Sunday evening as many of the congregation wished to attend the song service at the Reformed church.

—Thursday afternoon Miss Margaret Sechler delightfully entertained a number of her friends at a card and thimble party at her parents home on East Linn street.

—The office of the New Berlin Reporter was destroyed by fire last week. The loss is partly covered by insurance and Mr. Shiffer, the editor, hopes to resume publication in three or four weeks.

—On Monday night the residence of Adam Schroyer, four miles east of Loganton, Clinton county, was completely destroyed by fire, caused by the explosion of an oil lamp. All the household goods were lost.

—Tuesday evening, September 16th, Edgar W. Noll, formerly of Bellefonte, was married to Miss Irene Campbell, at Punxsutawney. The wedding was largely attended and was a brilliant social event. The young couple will reside in Punxsutawney.

—Miss May Judge who is visiting in Philadelphia, was given a surprise party by Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Albright, at their residence in honor of her Birth day on September 13. It was largely attended by young ladies and gents. A most delightful evening was spent.

—There is no truth in the rumor going the rounds that our good friend Beck had been drowned. He would never think of such a thing in the present state of bliss in which he finds himself. If you ask, how he drowned, the school children will say, He was playing Down on the Swanee River and fell in.

—A small barn on the farm of D. Connell at Sugar Run was destroyed by fire one day this week, together with all its contents. The fire is said to have been started by children playing with matches. A lot of potatoes and other crops grown on the farm this season and some of the farm implements were burned.

—October 16 has been named by Dr. Schaeffer, superintendent of public instruction, as Fall Arbor Day, and it is to be hoped the day will be widely observed. Authorities disagree as to the relative merits of spring and fall planting, but in our erratic climate, when winter lingers in the lap of spring, fall planting has undoubtedly much to commend it.

—Friday evening Miss Bernice Landis entertained a number of her friends at her home on East Penn street there being present Lyde Miller, Mabel Trafford, Ella Smith, Eva Sharp, Susie Donachy, Helen Smith, Helen Mensinger, Isaac Chambers, Blair Hall, Hugh Etters, Thos. Morgan and Henry Mensinger. In the latter part of the evening games were played and refreshments served. All reported as having a delightful time.

—As a reminder to parents and guardians it cannot be too often repeated that the school law requires the regular attendance of all children between the age of eight and sixteen years unless excused on account of illness; provided, however, that children between the ages of thirteen and sixteen years may be excused from attendance if regularly employed at some useful labor and able to read and write English intelligently.

—The Bare planing mill, one of Roaring Spring's important industries, was destroyed by fire very early Thursday morning, with a loss of about $10,000. The fire started in the planing mill proper and is supposed to have been smouldering for several hours before it broke out. The flames spread rapidly and despite the work of the firemen and townsmen soon consumed the mill and communicated with and destroyed the office building. A car of lumber was also burned.

—Mrs. Mary Meyer relict of Reuben Meyer, died at the home of her son-in-law, Dr. J. W. Bright, at Rebersburg, on Monday afternoon of paralysis, aged about 83 years. She left to survive six children, viz: Jerome, living on the old homestead in Miles township; Amazon, of Booneville; Calvin, of Pueblo, Colo.; Daniel, of Osceola; Mrs. J. B. Kreamer and Mrs. J. W. Bright, of Rebersburg. Funeral services were held Thursday forenoon and interment was made in the Union cemetery at Rebersburg, Rev. Wetzel conducting the services.

—Joseph Cedar is having a concrete pavement put down in front of his pretty residence, same as on the J. L. Spangler lot adjoining.

—Rev. Dr. R. L. Gerhart, formerly located at this place, now pastor of the Lewisburg Reformed church, announced to his congregation that he would be married some time this fall.

—Wallace Breon had two fingers of his left hand amputated by a saw at Wolf's stave mill near Fiedler, last Thursday. Dr. G. S. Frank dressed the wounds which are healing nicely.

—Miss Dora Meyers, the accomplished daughter of County Commissioner Philip H. Meyers, has been selected to preside at the new pipe organ just placed in St. John's Reformed church.

—Local freight from Tyrone jumped the track just below the Passenger station here Saturday afternoon and it was some time before the railroad men got the big mogul engine back on the track again.

—The Postal Telegraph Company have had a new window placed in the office at the P. R. R. passenger station. People desiring to send dispatches must go to this window instead of ticket window.

—Friday afternoon quite an exciting game of foot ball took place between the Juniors and the combined forces of the C and D classes of the High School which resulted in a score of 15 to 5 in favor of the Juniors.

—There was a meeting in the office of Geo. W. Zeigler Esq., in Philipsburg, Thursday evening, in the interest of good roads. The projectors of the idea about Philipsburg hope to get some of the state appropriation for that purpose.

—R. A. Kinsloe, a brother-in-law of Mrs. D. H. Hastings, who for years was publisher of the Bituminous Record at Philipsburg, has purchased the news and cigar stand in the North American Building in Philadelphia, and will take charge of same in the near future.

—The operation performed on Charles Larimer Friday morning for appendicitis by Dr. Vischer, of Philadelphia was highly successful. The reports from the sick room are that he is resting very comfortably and that his recovery is almost certain.

—The quarterly meeting of the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance company was held on Monday in Reynold's bank block. A full board of directors was in attendance. New applications and renewals were taken to amount to $158,103. Premium notes $132,410. Cash premiums received $556.47.

—Attorney General Carson has decided that "county commissioner and county engineers, as well as other officers of cities, boroughs and townships," must report to the state highway commissioner the number of miles of roads in each township, and that a failure to do so made them liable to proceedings in mandamus.

—Homer Brown better known to his friends in Bellefonte as "Bony," met with a painful accident Thursday afternoon while loading cars at the American Lime and Stone quarries. When in the act of putting a large rock on one of the cars he slipped falling on a sharp stone and nearly cut his left ear off. He was taken to Dr. Locke's office where his wounds were properly treated.

—J. Pierpont Morgan has sued himself for damages as the result of the recent collision between his yacht and the Jersey Central railroad steamer, the Monmoth. At least, Mr. Morgan controls a majority of the defendants stock and names the officers of the road. An exchange remarks that things seem to have come to an embarrassing pass with Mr. Morgan. He has got so big he can't keep out of his own way.

—The Western Union Telegraph company has a force of engineers and surveyors at work along the line of the Pennsylvania railroad, east of Pittsburg. Their operations are somewhat mysterious, but it is understood that the purpose of the secrecy is to find out whether or not when the Pennsylvania destroyed the lines of the Western Union east of Pittsburg if it had cut down poles and removed wires standing on private property controlled by the Western Union.

—Miss Blanche Smith entertained a party of her young friends at her parents hospitable home on North Thomas street Thursday evening. It was called a swapping party and being something new and novel everyone had a most delightful time. Later in the evening choice refreshments were served a bountiful supply having been provided. About twenty guests were present and all voted Miss Smith a most admirable hostess.

—On Saturday night a prisoner was lodged in jail, named Calvin Henry, of near Rebersburg, charged by his wife with making serious threats and another unmentionable crime. The prisoner was found sick, an hour later, and the jail physician being called, on examination pronounced it a case of poisoning by strichnine. The fellow was quite sick, but the doctor thinking the dose was not a fatal one, had remedies applied fitting the case, and Henry, is getting over his attempt at suicide by all appearance. It is thought that he brought the poison with him to jail. An eight foot rope was found in his coat, which he might have used. His age is about 35 years, and he is awaiting trial at November term.

Died at Altoona.

At 1.10 o'clock Saturday afternoon Mrs. Nancy A. Dale, of Altoona, died at the Altoona hospital of a complication of diseases. She had been ailing for several months and was admitted to the hospital June 7, in hopes that she might recover. She was a patient sufferer and when the end came passed peacefully into the great beyond. Deceased was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, and was born at Liberty, Trumbull county, O., April 3, 1829. She was twice married her first husband being G. W. Hasson, son of John Hasson, of Centre county. A few years after his death in 1877, she married Christian Dale, who lived but a short time after their union. Mrs. Dale was for twenty years a member of Dr. Hamil's Presbyterian church at Lemont, Centre county, but at the time of her death was connected with the First church of Altoona. She is survived by these children: John E. Hasson, of Windber; Mrs. Ida M. Stetler, of Parker's Landing; Charles E. Hasson, of Coalport, and Miss Dora A. Hasson, at home. She is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. Eliza McKinley and Mrs. Margaret Smith, of Clarion county. Funeral services were conducted at the house, 1015 Seventeenth avenue Altoona Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The remains were taken on seashore express, Tuesday morning at 7:05 o'clock to State College, where they were laid to rest in the Presbyterian cemetery.

BURGESS WALKER ALERT,

Takes a Firm Stand Against Slot Machines and Sunday Opening.

When Burgess Walker first assumed the duties of his office last Spring it was called to his attention that the slot machines were being operated unlawfully and that stores were being kept open on Sunday in Bellefonte. He at once took the matter in hand and the result was that the Sunday law was properly observed and the slot machine was banished from our midst.

The Burgess received unstinted praise on all sides for his action in this matter. Recently it was brought to his notice that a slot machine was being operated on the quiet in one of the business places of the town. He notified the owner to do away with the machine but the order was not obeyed and on Monday of this week he sent his officers to this place of business and confiscated the machine and now has it under lock and key in his office. It contained several dollars in pennies and was a gambling machine pure and simple. This machine it is alleged ran all Sunday afternoon.

The Burgess informed a reporter Wednesday morning that several stores were keeping open on Sunday, so it is alleged. He says unless this practice is stopped and the Sunday closing law strictly adhered to he will cause the arrest and prosecution of the offenders.

It is to be hoped that they will take heed from this warning and that the arrests will be unnecessary.

Burgess Walker is endeavoring to carry out his oath of office by strictly enforcing the laws on our statue books and he deserves the support of all good citizens in this worthy undertaking.

Hospital News.

Mr. M. E. Borger of Snow Shoe, who was operated upon for appendicitis by Dr. Seibring has been discharged as cured.

Mrs. John Aikey and Miss Minnie Shawley both of Bellefonte, have been discharged as cured.

Mrs. Maggie McKinley of Howard, and Mrs. Warren Wood of Bellefonte both of whom underwent serious operations are getting along nicely.

—A Kansas man sold his farm the other day and took the proceeds, amounting to $3800, to Kansas City with a view to helping indigent flood sufferers. After he had distributed $80 among the needy, in sums not exceeding $10 to each family, the police arrested him to inquire in to his sanity. Evidently practical philanthropy is a rare thing in Kansas City.
